GERMANY DECLARES FOR UNRESTRICTED NAVAL WAR

Peremptorily Answers Pres. Wilson's Senate Address

No Hint Had Been Given That Such A Note Was Coming and Washington Officials View the Situation As Extremely Grave and Express Much Concern

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS BE SEVERED

If Promise In Sussex Case Is Not Carried Out—Course of United States In Crisis Presented By New Note Is All In Hands of President Wilson

UNRESTRICTED NAVAL WARFARE

Berlin, Jan. 31.—Germany, in answering President Wilson's senate speech, declares for unrestricted naval warfare.

NOTE WAS COMPLETE SURPRISE TO ALL WASHINGTON OFFICIALS

Washington, Jan. 31.—The preliminary reading by officials of the German note, announcing the unrestricted naval warfare, beginning tomorrow, was followed by expressions which gave the impression that the resulting situation was viewed with extreme gravity and prompt action is expected.

There has been no official hint that such a note was coming, and Germany's declaration for unrestricted warfare was received with the greatest surprise.

It is assumed that such a warfare means the sinking without warning of freight and passenger vessels, which the United States, during the negotiations over the Sussex case, told Germany would cause the United States to sever diplomatic relations.

The decision as to what shall be the course of the United States, lies with the president.

The German note to the United States, which Ambassador von Bernstorff handed to Secretary Lansing and all neutral repsentatives, refers to the president's recent address to the senate, and goes into detail of the war situation and then declares that Germany finds herself "compelled to a fight for her existence, again forced upon her, with the full employment of all the weapons at her disposal."

The memoranda attached states that this will be done by unrestricted naval warfare, and gives the zones through which American ships may travel, tells how they should be marked and outlines fully the zones mentioned, which, if followed would eliminate practically all contraband trade with the allies.

The statement says that the German lists of what is contraband will be observed in handling such vessels.

The note at the outset refers to President Wilson's address as important, and says that Germany is gratified to learn that the main tendencies of the address correspond largely to German desires and principles, especially regarding self government and the equality of rights for small nations.

Germany, it says, will be sincerely glad if the recognition of this principle should give freedom to Ireland and India.

The German note then repudiates any desire on the part of Germany to enter alliances "which serve to enforce countries to competition or might, and involve them in a net of selfish intrigues," but it says that Germany would be glad to co-operate in efforts to prevent future wars.

GERMANY'S NOTE
(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Jan. 31.—Mr. Secretary of State:

Your excellency was good enough to transmit to the imperial government a copy of the message which the president of the United States of America addressed to the senate on the 22nd inst.

The imperial government has given it the earnest consideration which the president's statements deserve, inspired as they are, by deep a sentiment of responsibility.

It is highly gratifying to the imperial government to ascertain that the main tendencies of this important statement correspond largely to the desires and principles professed by Germany. The principles especially include self-government and equality of rights for all nations.

Germany would be sincerely glad if, in recognition of this principle, countries like Ireland and India, which do not enjoy the benefits of political independence, should obtain their freedom.

The German people also repudiate all alliances which serve to force countries into competition for might and to involve them in a net of selfish intrigues.

On the other hand Germany will gladly co-operate in all efforts to prevent future wars.

Freedom of seas, being preliminary condition of free existence of nations and peaceful intercourse between them as well as an open door for the commerce of all nations, has always formed part of the leading principles of Germany's political program.

All the more the imperial government regrets that the attitude of her enemies, who are so entirely opposed to peace, makes it impossible for the world at present to bring about a realization of these loftly ideas.

Germany and her allies were ready to enter now into discussion of peace, and had set down as a basis, guaranty of existence, of honor and free development of their peoples. Their aims, as has been expressly stated in the note of December 12, 1916, were not directed towards destruction or annihilitation of their enemies and were, according to their conviction, perfectly compatible with the rights of other nations.

As to Belgium, for which such warm and cordial sympathy is felt in the United States, the chancellor had declared, only few weeks previously, that its annexation had never formed part of Germany's intentions. The peace to be signed with Belgium was to provide for such conditions in that country, with which Germany desires to maintain friendly neighborly relations, that Belgium should not be used again by Germany's enemies for the purpose of instigating continuous hostile intrigues.

Such precautionary measures are all the more necessary, as Germany's enemies have repeatedly stated, not only in speeches delivered by their leading men, but also in statues of economical conference in Paris, that it is their intention not to treat Germany as an equal, even after peace has been restored, but to continue their hostile attitude and especially to wage systematic economical war against her.

Attempts of four allied powers to bring about peace has failed, owing to the lust of conquest of their enemies, who desired to dictate conditions of peace. Under pretense of following principles of nationality, our enemies have disclosed their real aims in this war, viz: to dismember and dishonor Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria.

To our wish for reconcilliation they

PEACE AND MEANS OF PRESERVING HAVE ALL GONE GLIMMERING

Washington, Jan. 31.—Germany's unrestricted submarine campaign, as announced here, is regarded as a starvation blockade of England, the like of which has never been seen, and the beginning of a long campaign of ruthlessness on a scale never yet conceived by on Tirpitz.

Again the United States faces the severance of diplomatic relations with Germany, whose action is regarded as the super-crisis of all those which have stirred the United States.

Talk of peace in Europe and means of preserving peace of the world have gone glimmering.

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing refused to comment on the situation tonight, but among the possibilities are a solemn warning to Germany against the violation of her pledges, or the decision that the German note warrants the severance of diplomatic relations, or the decision to await the development of actual operations.

After careful study of the note, the president went to bed at 11 o'clock, thus apparently disposing of the suggestions that he might take action before morning.

He had seen no callers, but it is understood he used the telephone freely, but as far as learned, no plans were laid by him to go to congress, as he did when announcing the sending of the Sussex note threatening to sever relations.

Meanwhile, the president's repeated warnings of a "world afire" and Secretary Lansing's "verge of war" statement were recalled at the capital with feelings of apprehension and misgiving.

On almost every side Germany's drastic action is interpreted as an open confession of the effectiveness of the British food blockade and the determination to strike back in kind.

Germany counts on the operations of an unheard number of submarines to subdue England within sixty days, as it has been estimated that the British food supply is not sufficient to last a month.

An annex to the note warns American citizens and vessels from the barred zones, which extend around Great Britain, France, Italy and in the eastern Mediterranean.

ATTACKS AND REPULSES ARE ORDER OF DAY

Battles On All Fronts Merely Consist of Artillery Duels and Raids

Associated Press, Jan. 31.—Except for battles of some importance in northwest Russia and Bukowina, operations in all zones continued mainly to consist of artillery fighting and small raids.

The Germans stormed Russian positions southwest of Riga, repulsing Russian counter attacks, capturing 900 hundred prisoners.

In Bukowina the Russians penetrated Teutonic positions and captured prisoners.

The Teutons repulsed a Russian offenisve along the Danube in Rumania.

THINK THEY HAVE A NOTED PICKPOCKET

In the arrest of Leroy Hart, alias Weston, the local police believed they have a very important person in custody. The man was arrested by Plainclothesmen J. W. Bishop and W. B. Curry, after a hurry call was erceived form the Grand Hotel, near the Florida East Coast railway depot, about three o'clock yesterday morning.

Suspecting him of being a pickpocket, Weston's room mate set a trap for him, and placed some marked bills in his pockets. When the money was missed, the police were communicated with and after a search of Weston's undergarments, a marked $1 bill was found. He was turned over to the county authorities and will be given a preliminary hearing before County Judge Barco.

ARE PREPARED TO MEET THE UNDERSEA WAR

Entente Allies Anticipated Submarine Campaign and Are Ready For It

New York, Jan. 31.—The entente allies are prepared to meet the German submarine campaign, it was authoritatively asserted in shipping circles here, and the ports of Liverpool and Bordeaux will be kept open at all hazards even if it is necessary to convoy every merchantman crossing the Atlantic.

The entente allies were expecting the German move, it was said, and the British have 4,000 vessels available to fight raiders and to convoy ships.

It is predicted the first move will be to arm merchantmen fore and aft for defense.

NEW MEXICO MAY GO DRY

Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 31.—The invaluable assistance given the prohibition movement by united effort of the temperance forces is shown in the effective work of the State Submission Federation of New Mexico.

As the name implies, this organization of the combined temperance strength of the state was formed to obtain the submission of a prohibition amendment to the state constitution this year.

Prohibition up to this point has made tremendous progress in New Mexico and the leaders appear confident that their efforts will be crowned with success.

The legislature now in session is expected to submit a strong amendment, as three-fourths of the members are individually pledged to statewide prohibition. In addition, all the principal officers of the state are pledged to the amendment, both by party platforms and public promises.

NEW YORK CHARITY BALL

New York, Jan. 31.—Notwithstanding the heavy demands made upon Father Knickerbocker's purse this winter by the innumerable bazaars and other functions for the relief of the war sufferers, the annual charity ball to be given tomorrow night at the Waldorf-Astoria promises to be a great success, financially as well as socially. For sixty years, without interruption, the charity ball has been the premier event of the season for New York society. The proceeds of the function will, as usual, be donated to the New York Nursery and Child's hospital.

New York, Jan. 31.—Francis A. Conolly, a Washington broker, and partner of R. W. Bolling, brother-in-law of President Wilson, who, on December 20, gave E. F. Hutton and Company, New York brokers, an accurate resume of the president's peace note ten hours before it was published, failed in a two and a half hour grilling examanation before the congressional committee, to name the exact source of his information.

He specifically exonerated Bolling, however, for all blame for the leak on the note.

HARD WORK TO GET JURY IN RICE CASE

Two Separate Venires Exhausted and Another Returnable Friday

The trial of Frank Rice, charged with the murder of Charles Williams, one of the members of the sheriff's posse who were killed at Everglade tank, on the early morning of September during the chase for the four Homestead bank bandits, did not progress very far in the circuit court yesterday, and a special venire of one hundred more names were drawn in the hope of securing the jury who will pass judgment on the case.

Up to 6 o'clock last night when court was adjourned, there were eleven jurymen in the box. The defense had nine and the state five challenges left and the indications are that all of these will be used before the jury box is finally filled.

The work of selecting the jury has been a tedious one, lasting for the past two days, during which time two separate venires have been exhausted. When adjourning court Judge Branning announced that the special panel selected last night would be returnable at 10 o'clock Friday morning when the case will be resumed.

The eleven men in the box at the time of the adjournment of court last night were: Charles Minneck, who was number three on the list; Charles E. Loop, who was the seventh man called to serve, while Charles H. Davis was the third. Davis was the tenth man to be questioned as to his qualifications as a juryman. T. E. Armstrong, a local real estate man, is juror No. 4 and his number was thirty-three on the list, while G. W. Oden, R. L. Foster and D. E. Blanton were placed in the box in arpid succession.

The next ment to occupy the box were J. M. Bercegeay, who was fifty-six on the list and J. W. Farrar, who was the fifty-seventh man to be questioned. The tenth juror was E. R. Holbrook who was No. 62 on the list, while C. W. Beauchamp was the sixty-eighth. It is possible that some of the above will be excused by either the defense or the state.

Several of the prospective jurymen were examined yesterday and were nearly all excused for cause, the attorneys for the state and defense reserving their challenges admirably.

Judge Branning and Sheirff Moran finished drawing the other one hundred names before leaving the courtroom last night and subpoenas were issued for these, and these were placed in the hands of deputy sheriffs who will have all day today to serve them.

The Rice case attracted much attention again yesterday and a large number were in the court room watching the work of securing the jury. When it became apparent that the trial would not proceed yesterday many of teh witnesses for both the state and defense left the court room. Judge Branning announced last night that he would busy himself today in chambers.

New York, Jan. 31.—Collector of the Port Malone tonight ordered that the port of New York be closed not only to steamers, but even to tugs, several of which were turned back.

Malone is vested with the sole responsibility for preserving the neutrality of this port. He did not explain his action.

CAPTAIN CANOVA HERE ON A VISIT

After an absence of two years from the city, Captain A. J. Canova, of Jacksonville, believes that he is in a real cosmopolitan city. Captain Canova arrived yesterday for a visit of several days for the purpose of seeing his son, George Canova, who is on board the yacht Nemeha.

Captain Canova is the inventor of an economic device for using kerosene for motors and he is introducing this in this section. These are made especially for all kinds of automobiles as well as motor boats and yachts and are considered remarkable.

In speaking of Miami last night, Captain Canova said that he did not know the city when he alighted from a Florida East Coast railroad train. The town that he left a few years ago has adopted genuine metropolitan airs, he said.

TO FURTHER RESTRICT CHILD LABOR

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 31.—A new law relating to compulsory education and child labor will come into operation in New York state tomorrow, with the result that it will be made more difficult for boys and girls to escape from their studies by seeking employment in factory or workshop. Under the new law all children under fifteen, who desire to work, must produce a graduation diploma from a public elementary school, private or parochial school of the same grade. Heretofore it has been required that a child need only finish the sixth grade in order to secure a certificate to work.

ANOTHER MATCH FOR THREE-CUSHION TITLE

New York, Jan. 31.—For the second time within a period of 5 weeks the three-cushion carom billiard championship of the world is about to be battled for by two of the foremost exponents of the green-table sport. In a series of matches beginning tonight, at Doyle's academy, in this city, George W. Moore, the present champion, is to defend his title against Charles A. McCourt, of Cleveland. The contest will be 150 points, to be played in three sessions of 50 points each. Albert G. Cutler, the noted Boston professional, is to serve as referee. The contest is for $250 a side, a purse of $500, and the diamond trophy emblematic of the championship contest some time in April.

Supreme Court Issues Peremptory Writ Requiring Company To Get Busy

WAS ISSUED YESTERDAY

Requires Company To Give Canal Width and Depth Required By Law

(Special to The Herald.)

Tallahassee, Jan. 31.—The attorney general late yesterday instituted mandamus proceeding against the Florida East Coast line canal and transportation to compel that company to maintain its canal, leading from Jacksonville to Miami, and a writ of mandamus was issued this morning by the supreme court against the company.

The writ commands the Canal company to proceed forthwith to restore its canal to the width and depth required by law, and to maintain it in condition.

The suit was brought in the name of Thomas F. West, attorney general, in behalf of the state of Florida, and is regarded as of far reaching importance, since it is an exercise of power of state over public service corporations to require them to perform duties and services they owe to the public.

It is especially important to the people of the East Coast, as this canal was intended to provide protected inland waterway down the east coast, giving to the people of that section safe and inexpensive transportation.

The Canal company received from the state by legislative grants, more than a million acres of land, valued at from two to five dollars an acre, for the purpose of aiding in the construction of its canal, and the state is therefore interested in having it perform its duty and maintain the canal so that it may be used by the people and serve the purpose for which it was created.

It is charged in the writ issued that the company has neglected to maintain its canal at the width and depth required by law, and that it is evading and shirking obligations which it owes to the general public, and is thereby subjecting the public to great inconvenience and loss, depriving the people of transportation intended to be afforded by the canal and defeating, in a large measure, the intent of the state in aiding in the construction and maintenance of the canal.

By the writ issued in the case, this morning, the company is required to forthwith restore its canal to its original dimensions and thereafter to maintain it as the law requires.

oppose with a will of destruction; they desire to fight to the bitter end.

A new situation has thus been created which forces Germany to new decisions. Since two years and a half, England has been using her naval power for a criminal attempt to force Germany into submission by starvation. In brutal contempt of international law, the group of powers led by England, does not only curtail legitimate trade of their opponents, but they also by ruthless pressure compel neutral countries, either altogether to forego every trade not agreeable to entente powers, but to limit it according to their arbitrary decrees.

The American government knows of steps which have been taken to cause England and her allies to return to ruts of international law and to respect freedom of the seas.

The English government however, insists upon continuing its war of starvation, which does not at all effect the military powers of its opponents, but compels women and children, sick and aged to suffer, for their country, pains and privations which endanger the vitality of nation.

Thus British tyranny mercilessly increases sufferings of the world indifferent to laws of humanity, indifferent to protests of the neutrals, whom they severely harm, indifferent even to silent longing for peace among England's own allies. Each day of terrible struggle causes new destruction, new sufferings. Each day shortening war will, on both sides, preserve the lives of thousands of brave soldiers and be a benefit to mankind.

The imperial government could not just[illegible] its own conscience, before [illegible] people and before history the [illegible] of any means destined to b[illegible] about the end of the war. Like the president of the United States, the imperial government had hoped to reach this goal by negotiations. After attempts to come to an understanding with entente powers it has been answered by the latter with announcement of an intensified continuation of war. The imperial government in order to serve the welfare of mankind in a higher sense and not to wrong its own people, is compelled to continue the fight for existence again forced upon it, with full employment of all weapons which are at its disposal.

Sincerely trusting that people and government of the United States will understand the motives for this decision and its necessity, the imperial government hopes that the United States may view new situation from lofty heights of impartiality and assist on their part to prevent further misery and unavoidable sacrifice of human life.

TAMPA WIVES ASK HEAVIER BREAD LOAVES

Present An Ordinance To Council and Ask That Legislation Be Enacted

Tampa, Jan. 31.—The Housewives league of Tampa is after more bread for the money, and seeks it through legislation.

An ordinance offered to the Tampa city council by the women for enactment is as follows:

An Ordinance Relating to Bakers, and the Manufacture, Weight and Sale of Bread.

Be it Ordained by the City Council of the City of Tampa:

Section 1. No person, firm or corporation shall carry and conduct the trade or business of a baker without first paying the license tax and obtaining a license for a bakery as now provided by ordinance; provided, however, that this ordinance shall not apply to bread shipped or brought here in interstate commerce, nor shall the provision o f this ordinance apply to crackers, pretzels, biscuits, buns, scones, rolls or loaves of fancy bread weighing less than one-fourth of a pound avoirdupois, or to what is commonly known as "stale bread," sold as such, provided the seller shall at the time of sale expressly state to the buyer that the bread so sold is stale bread.

Sec. 2. Every loaf of bread manufactured, made or procured for the purpose of sale, sold offered or exposed for sale in a conspicuous place a label at least one inch square, or if round, at least one inch in diameter, upon which label there shall be printed in black ink upon white paper, from type not smaller or making less conspicuous letter than the type commonly known as twelve-point full face square Gothic capital letters and figures (being substantially such type as is described in specimen book No. 9 of Barnhart Brothers & Spindler as twelve point Lining Gothic)' the weight of the loaf in pound, pounds or fraction of a pound avoirdupois.

Sec. 3. All bread made or procured for the purpose of sale, or offered or exposed for sale in the city of Tampa shall be made in a clean and sanitary place, and shall contain no deleterious substance or material.

Sec. 4. All bread of every description made or manufactured by the bakers of this city shall be made of good and wholesome flour or meal into loaves we[illegible] and labelled as follows:

Eight ounces or more and less than twelve ounces, to be labelled one-half pound.

Twelve ounces or more and less than sixteen ounces, to be labelled three-fourths pound.

Sixteen ounces or more and less than two pounds, to be labelled one pound.

Two pounds or more and less than three pounds, to be labelled two pounds.

Three pounds or more and less than four pounds, to be labelled three pounds.

Four pounds or more and less than five pounds, to be labelled four pounds.

Five pounds or more and less than six pounds, to be labelled five pounds.

Six pounds or more and less than seven pounds, to be labelled six pounds, avoirdupois weight; and no baker shall make for sale, or shall sell or expose for sale any bread that shall be deficient in weight; provided, always, that such deficiency in the weight of such bread shall be ascertained by the inspector and sealer of weights and measures by weighing or causing to be weighed in his presence within eight hours after the same shall have been baked, sold or exposed for sale; provided, further, that when any allowance in the weight shall be claimed on account of any bread having been baked, sold or exposed for sale more than eight hours as aforesaid, the burden of proof in respect to the time when the same shall have been baked, sold or exposed for sale shall devolve upon the defendant or baker of such bread.

Sec. 5. The inspector and sealer of weights and measures, under direction of the pure food, milk and dairy inspector, shall be the inspector of bread, and it shall be his duty and he is hereby authorized and required from time to time, but not less than once in each month, at all seasonable hours, to enter into and inspect and examine every baker shop, storeroom or other building where any bread is or shall be baked, stored or exposed or offered for sale, and to inspect and examine in any part of the city, any person or persons, wagons or other carriages carrying any loaf of bread for the purpose of sale, and weighing the same and determining whether the same are in violation of the true intent and meaning of this ordinance; and if the said inspector and sealer of weights and measures shall find any bread not to conform to the directions herein contained, or any part of them, he shall make complaint thereof for the purpose of having such person prosecuted according to law.

Sec. 6. CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Crashes into sour bile, making you sick and you lose a day's work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

APPEAL TO BE TAKEN IN THE PETERS CASE

What will probably be one of the largest verdicts in damages in a case not arising from contract, was found by a Dade county jury on Tuesday, when in the circuit court it rendered a decision against the Florida East Coast Railway Company in a case where T. J. Peters sued on account of loss alleged to have been sustained by reason of the neglect of the defendant to furnish transportation for the shipment of a large tomato crops, crates and material.

The amount of damages sustained was ascertained by the jury at $63,513, and a verdict was rendered accordingly.

This was the second trial of the case, a jury in a former trial rendering a verdict in favor of the plaintiff of $30,000; from which judgment the defendant corporation appealed, the result of that appeal being to have the case sent back to the circuit court for retrial, with a verdict as stated above.

The case has attracted a great deal of attention during the several years it has been in litigation from the amount of damages originally claimed, it being known as the "Peters hundred thousand dollar damage case."

The plaintiff was represented by Carson and Pine, and H. F. Atkinson, while Shutts, Smith and Bowen, with Judge Armsted Brown, of Jacksonville, representing the defendant corporation.

Speaking of the case yesterday, Crate D. Bowen, of the firm of Shutts, Smith and Bowen, stated that an appeal would be taken to the supreme court of the state.

(This story should have appeared in yesterday's Herald, but owing to one of those inexplicable accidents that so frequently harass an editor in a busy newspaper office, it was inadvertantly omitted.)

It appears that Brooklyn is having more trouble in signing its players than any other major league club. A cut in salaries all along the line has caused the champion Robins to hesitate in the matter of signing contracts.

On his return north from Texas recently, Tris Speaker, champion batman of the American league, stopped off at Cincinnati to pay his respects to Hal Chase, the National league's champion slugger.

The American league broke all records for attendance last year, the circuit's turnstiles showing that 4,324,800 fans attended the games. Total attendance at the National league games for the season was 3,508,800.

Barney Reilly has the distinction of being the only Irish professional ski jumper in the world.

Evening With Harrison Fisher Most Charming Entertainment

One of the most charmingly original entertainments that has been given in Miami for some time was the evening advertised to be spent with Harrison Fisher by the big audience that last night filled the Woman's Club auditorium for the program put on by St. Catherine's Guild of Trinity Episcopal church.

Mrs. Sproule-Baker played the piano solo that opened the evenings entertainment and there followed, within the big brilliantly lighted frame on the stage a presentation of the six happiest moments in a girl's life.

The first moment, The Proposal, revelled to the music of "Oh Promise Me" was posed most effectively by Jessie Fuzzard and Mr. Partridge. The Trousseau, to the Spring Song, was posed by Miss Anderson, Miss Ruth Williams and Evelyn Hopkins. The Wedding, the especially lovely picture that won a hearty encore, was posed by Miss Weimer as the bride in her filmy white, Mr. Partridge as the groom and the Misses Evelyn Hopkins, Evelyn Berry and Kathleen Irving as the rosy attendants. Of course the Wedding March was the only thing that could possibly have been played for this. The Honeymoon was delightful with Miss Emma Lummus and Mr. Dupree as the happy newlyweds while the First Dinner in the New Home with Margaret Hazlett and Mr. Herbert Jones to the music of Aloha was effective. The New Love in which the charms of Miss Elsie Tuttle and Mr. J. Dupree were quite eclipsed by those of the wonderful baby, completed a charmingly planned and picturesquely carried out series.

Mr. Herbert Jones then sang "If I Were A Rose" delightfully and answered to his encore with "I Hear You Calling Me."

The Bachelor's Reverie, the second series on the program of picture was introduced by Mr. O. K. Davenport in the title role of the bachelor, who in his easy chair at the edge of the big frame was re-reading his old love letters just before his wedding day. And as he remembered the charms of his first lady lover the curtains parted and the ladies themselves appeared, given excellent testimony to the bachelor's taste in feminine atractiveness. The subjects and their models were

The First Sweetheart—Miss Nellie Peacon.

The High School Girl—Miss Margaret Sulzner.

The Graduate—Miss Margeret Hazlett.

The Debutante—Miss Kathlen Irving.

The Widow—Miss Elsie Tuttle.

The Sporting Girl—Evelyn Hopkins.

The Actress—Kathleen Huelsenkamp.

The Athletic Girl—Miss Mary Agnes Pope.

The Bride—Miss Weiman.

Mrs. Gilbert Cook sang the Irish Immigrant very delightfully. The last series of pictures were deliciously funny in their burlesque on the six senses and the humor was greatly increased by the running fire of rag time played by Mr. Harold Soper.

The pictures in this clever series with their models, were:

Seeing—Miss Ruth Williams and Mr. Bates.

Tasting—Miss Evelyn Spencer and Mr. Myers.

Hearing—Miss Hopkin sand Mr. Jones and Master William Huelsenkamp.

Commonsense — Miss Berry and Master Huelsenkamp.

Smelling—Miss Bertha Huelsenkamp and Mr. Partridge.

Feeling—Miss Kathleen Huelsenkamp.

As a final delight to complete a most unusual evening Miss A. Saint Amory of London, England, played a violin solo, the Adoration of Borowski, which was beautifully played and eagerly heard.

The members of St. Catherine's Guild, to whose cleverness and ingenuity the whole program was due, are as follows: the Misses Jessie Fuzzard, Elsie Tuttle, Bertha and Kathleen Huelsenkamp, Ruth Williams, Evelyn Hopkins, Evelyn Berry, Evelyn Spencer, Kathleen Irving, Emma Lummus, Sue, Mary Agnes, and Annie Pope, Margaret Sulzner, Margaret and Marion Hazlett, with Mrs. Hazlett as director.

W. C. T. U. ACTIVITIES AT COCOANUT GROVE

The activities of the W. C. T. U. of Cocoanut Grove for the past week have been many and varied, concluding with the big joint meeting with the suffrage department last night.

On last Saturday the Minnie Neal Young People's branch made a trip to the beach in automobiles and held three delightful meetings there, during which they elected officers as follows: President, Miss Clara Hargitt, vice-president, Miss Bessie Pinder; treasurer, Miss Eleanor Walker; secretary, Miss Hilda Knowles. They also planned a reception to Miss Neal when she arrives in Miami.

On Monday a further meeting of the Young People's branch was held to plan the work of the departments.

Yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles DeGarmo, of Cocoanut Grove, the W. C. T. U. held a most interesting and very well attended meeting in which half of the time was given over to the discussion of suffrage.

Mrs. Sue . Moore presented a most excellent paper on the subject of the best methods for gaining the franchise. She discussed the questions of the national amendment and in all presented a very clear and illuminatin gidea of the work.

Dr. Ira Adams, of Miami, was another special speaker for the afternoon. He talked on the subject of how to satisfy the social instinct in man after the saloon has been taken away. Dr. Adams presented the subject in a very clear and sane manner advocating the use of well censored movies and the introduction of community and civic centres for social enjoyment as well as other municipal activities.

The next meeting of the Cocoanut Grove W. C. T. U. will be the annual one for the election of officers.

FLORIDA NATAL HAY ASSOCIATION

The Florida Natal Hay Association, as its name indicates, was organized for the purpose of growing hay in Florida on a large scale, through the expedient of co-operative farming; and to this the association has purchased a tract of land three miles square, and is now selling the same to high class investors in forty acre tracts, fully developed, in a high state of cultivation and seeded to Natal grass, with all the improvements, machinery and barns necessary to the handling of the crops, at a price of $75 per acre, or $3,000 per forty-acre tract.

Florida Imports Most of its Hay.

The business of growing hay in the state of Florida has come into prominence from the fact that the state is annually importing about 500,000 tons of hay. The price of this hay for the last fifteen or twenty years has ranged from $26 to $30 per ton.

Raising Natal Has is a Profitable Business.

Having been experimented with and tested for twenty years by the United States government and the experiment station of the state of Florida, it has been demonstrated to be a very fine quality of extra-nutritious hay; and the practical experience of growers during the past seven years has shown that it may be grown very profitably in this state. As a consequence of this Natal hay has received an enormous amount of publicity through the medium of the press. The Florida Grower, Tampa Tribune, Tampa Times, Jacksonville Times-Union and other papers of the state have published many articles showing the great profits that have accrued to the growers of Natal grass, until now it is a matter of common knowledge that to grow Natal hay is a profitable and lucrative business.

Florida Has a Protective Tariff on Natal Hay.

We have not only a market at home for $10,000,000 worth of hay, but if we only assume a basic price of $20 per ton for our Natal we have absolutely eliminated the economic possibility of shipping hay into Florida to be sold in competition with hay grown in this state.

The states now shippnig into Florida are Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Kansas; and to ship from these states costs about $12 a ton in freight alone. Consequently the northern farmer has to pay what amounts to a protective tariff of $12 per ton to get his hay into our markets to compete with Natal hay (a better hay and much more sought for than timothy.)

Florida a Monopolized Market for Natal Hay.

If Natal hay is sold in Florida as low as $20 per ton the northern farmer would have to sell his hay f. o. b. his farm in Ohio or Illinois at $8 per ton. Any farmer will tell you that it costs at least $3.50 per ton to cut, cure and bale hay. This would leave the northern farmer at the most $4.50 for his hay, out of which he must cover the expense of loading on board cars, the expense of seed, the cultivation of the land, taxes, interest on the money invested in land, and to annually put back into the soil what the timothy has taken out of it,—to say nothing of pay for the year's labor or profit on the crop grown for the Florida trade. The further you investigate the more you are convinced that the freight rate and expense of raising, harvesting and marketing hay by the northern farmer, placed within the actual cost, make it practically an economic impossibility to ship hay into Florida to compete with a Florida-grown product at $20 or less per ton.

Additional Markets.

No hay is shipped into Florida from Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, or even Tennessee. These states are themselves large importers of hay, and depend largely upon the states mentioned in a preceding paragraph for their hay. They offer an excellent market for Florida to supply at a much more economical price.

Location and Quality of Our Land.

We selected such land for the culture of Natal hay as is recommended both by the United States agricultural department and the Florida State Agricultural College,—namely, well-drained, high, rolling, pine land. This land is located in Hernando county, Florida, four miles west of Brooksville. The Tampa & Northern railroad runs directly through our tract and has located two shipping stations upon our land.

The United States Department of Agriculture on Natal Hay.

The United States government, in its official bulletins of 1915 and 1916 on the subject of Southern Forage Crops, states that after twenty years' experience with Natal hay in Florida they can say that under ordinary conditions Natal hay will yield an average of one ton per cutting and can be cut four times a year, and under very favorable circumstances as many as five times per year. These bulletins are issued not with a view of advancing any company's financial interests, but for the purpose of disseminating the best information obtainable to improve the agricultural interests of every state in the union. Extracts from the most recent bulletin are attached to this communication.

The actual experience of farmers in the state of Florida have proven these statements to be correct; but in order to be reasonably certain that we will be able to realize our expectancy, we are only calculating on a yield of two tons per acre per year; and after allowing $5 per ton for expense and arbitrarily reducing the price of hay to $20 per ton, it will leave the investor a net income of $15 per ton, or $30 per acre net profit on the purchase price of $75 per acre, which includes the cost of the land and the entire cultivation thereof, expense of maintenance and cost of harvesting and marketing the first year's crop. As a matter of fact, we now have in our office applications for our production, ranging from one to twenty-five carloads per week at $24 per ton.

Not a Speculation.

The purchaser of a forty-acre tract gets a warranty deed to his land, which he holds in his own name separate and apart from any other owner; in addition he receives a profit sharing certificate in the Florida Natal Hay Association, which shows that he is entitled to an equal vote in the management of the association which operates this land, for the benefit of the purchaser thereof at cost. Our charter provides that nothing but the actual cost can be charged to any purchaser of land, whether in the developing or future operation of same; thus making it an investment that you own and control yourself, with expert and competent management to operate for you. This is not a speculation. No one would have to argue with you the realiability of an investment in staple crops or the prime necessity of life. From time immemorial hay has been a necessity, and so long as the human family continues to use butter, milk and beef, so long will we have to have hay.

Some Testimony Regarding Natal Hay, Its Value and Marketability.

Hon. D. C. Gillett, of the Buckeye nurseries, writing from Tampa under date of September 25, 1916, to Hon. H. J. Drane, president of the Florida Natal Hay Association, says:

"I note in the press where you are about to plant a 5,000 acre Natal hay farm in the vicinity of Brooksville. .... At the nursery we have been feeding Natal hay all this summer, and our mules will turn down the finest timothy for it. .... I suppose our requirements this year will run around 75 tons. I am under the impression that we are paying $22 per ton f. o. b. cars at Kathleen."

BIRTH CONTROL "MARTYR" NOW ON A HUNGER STRIKE

MRS. ETHEL BYRNE

Mrs. Ethel Byrne is now carrying on a hunger strike in Blackwells Island penitentiary, New York City, after her conviction in a Brooklyn court for disseminating birth control information. She is a sister of Mrs. Margaret Sanger, who has also been in trouble for the same offense. The two established in a Jewish section of Brooklyn what they called a "birth control clinic," and their arrest followed. Mrs. Byrne was convicted.

FOUR HOMES A DAY

It was not so long ago that Miami was congratulating herself that she was building one home a day for every working day of the year. Last year we boasted, somewhat, when the figures at the end of the year showed that we had built three dwellings for every day.

The month ending yesterday, the first month of the year shows that there were ninety eight permits issued for the construction of dwellings, an average of about four homes every working day.

Building permits, including all classes of buildings and repairs, numbered one hundred and eight for January, with a total value of $130,810.

It is to be noticed that the costliest dwelling started during the month was valued at forty five hundred dollars, indicating that the buildings under construction are all for homes for people who reside permanently in Miami.

Four new homes are being erected every day in this city, and the year has but begun, and moreover, this is a time when construction is at the lowest ebb.

All this means that Miami is increasing in the ratio of her growth, and as was said by a visitor, instead of there ever being a danger that the city will over build it will be a long time before the legitimate and insistent demand for homes can possibly be satisfied.

PROTECTION FOR MIAMI

A winter resident makes a suggestion which should receive the earnest consideration of all thoughtful Miamians.

It is difficult for the average American to believe that there is the slightest danger to this country from controversies with any other. We have been at peace so long with all mankind that we have grown to believe that there will never again be any necessity for our protecting ourselves either from invasion or from damage by war.

We all thought that of the world, three years ago, but the sudden and inexplicable events occuring on the European continent have rather shattered our ideas on the subject of peace. We are beginning to realize that war is a terrible reality and that when it comes, there is only one way to meet it and that is by defenses and force.

Although Captain Mahan, during his life time an acknowledged naval expert, wrote of the necessity of fortifying this part of the state of Florida and explained the strategic value of a naval rendezvous in Biscayne Bay, very little attention was ever paid to his suggestion, for none of us then believed that this country would ever again experience war, and it was absurd, the country thought, to fortify places so far out of the way as is Miami, or was thought to be then, and the idea was passed over as so many valuable suggestions for the safety of the country have been ignored, to our very great cost.

The visitor alluded to, calls attention to the strategic importance of Miami and the necessity for fortifications to guard, as much as possible, this growing and important city. It is not necessary to point out that when he says the most ordinary enemy vessel could destroy Miami within a very few minutes, with out the slightest danger to itself, he is eminently correct, and we know of some of the sudden surprises that have been executed during the present war.

If Pensacola, Mobile, Charleston and Tampa demand and receive protection, it is evident that this city should also demand that arrangements be made for safeguarding Miami in time of trouble.

The matter should be laid before the proper authorities as soon as possible, and Miami should request that proper fortifications be planned and erected on the islands and keys opposite the city, and that they be made permanent garrisons for small bodies of troops to man the guns that should be installed there.

It will take time to convince the government of the necessities of the case, and the movement to secure protection should start now.

Billy Sunday is not celebrated for moderation of statement, but when he says that, in a world without newspapers, "Hell would break loose in forty-eight hours," he shows real conservatism in forecast. The figure could be reduced to thirty-six.—Editor and Publisher.

While Europeans are digging trenches in the snow to fight for their lives, people at Miami beaches dig trenches in the sand to enjoy the sun. As a mere matter of comfort there is something to be said for the Miami way of doing things.

Advices from Washington are that the illness of Congressman Sears is not at all serious, merely a case of grippe, his secretary wires, and the congressman will be up and about by tomorrow. Joe is altogether too young and vigorous to be down and out with nervous prostration, at this stage of the game.

Speaking of the preparedness plans, if J. Ogden Armour would locate one of the Armour plants in Miami, that is about all we would ask, except an enlarged postoffice and a few other things.

STILL A BAD MESS

It is rather a singular thing that the principal subject of controversy, now, between this country and the Carranza government is not the patroling of the border, not the protection of American lives in Mexico, but a movement on the part of Mexico to control, in its own way, the property of foreigners.

There is being held at Quaretaro a convention that is devoting its time to the framing of a new constitution for Mexico. Among the many proposed provisions is one that would give the government great powers over the property of foreigners, one that would restrict the activities of foreign corporations to a marked degree.

It must be remembered that one of the contentions of the present Mexican government is that Mexico has been exploited by foreign corporations and landowner to the destruction of Mexican prosperity, and the present revolution had as its basis, largely, the desire to overturn that corporation and monopolistic control.

It is proposed to do this through a constitutional provision which is to be adopted by authority, and made the basic law of the land. It would really look as though a free people, one having all the sovereign rights of other peoples should be at liberty to settle their internal affairs without interference from the outside.

We have said as much. We have refrained from interfering when revolutionists murdered our own people on Mexican soil, when they destroyed property belonging to American citizens, and we have utterly refused to hear or relieve those Americans when they have submitted their justified complaints. We refused to carry out our demands that a former president salute the American flag, and we have retired from Mexico without securing Villa either dead or alive.

But now that corporation interests are threatened, in a law which it would seem the Mexicans have an undoubted right to adopt if they want to, we are sending an ambassador to interfere as far as possible and secure a modification of the proposed law.

In all probability, the new ambassador will be told with exquisite Mexican courtesy that it is really none of Uncle Sam's business as to what kind of a constitution the Mexicans adopt, and they will probably tell him in polite language to keep his nose out of their private business.

Which, after all, would be about what we deserve when we think of the way we have incontinently fled whenever Carranza has insisted on having his way, which he has always secured in spite of all our accute diplomats.

The Mexican affair is still a bad mess and a big muddle.

ONLY THE OVERT ACT LACKING

While German newspapers spoke of President Wilson's world peace note in terms of praise, the German government's answer is to announce that it proposes to conduct an unrestrained warfare on the sea. That is, that it does not propose to show discrimination in sinking vessels and that it proposes to hold that any armed merchantman belonging to enemy powers, is subject to the same methods as are to be used against other war vessels.

This country has always held to the right of merchantmen to carry arms, and that has been international law until this war began. Germany, in spite of the treaties she has signed acknowledging the principle, repudiates the law and declares war against mankind.

In addition to this announcement, there will probably come a statement from the same government warning all Americans who travel on merchantmen belonging to the entente powers, which may be armed in accordance with the law, that they do so at the peril of their lives, because Germany proposes to sink as many of them as she can reach.

The two declarations bring affairs to a crisis, and we enter once again into the shadow of war, by no act of our own.

If Germany persists in her latest announced determination, if a German raider or submarine sinks a vessel upon which an American citizen is a passenger or an employe, the question will come squarely up to this country to make good its position that, despite the war, the seas must be open to American travel on legitimate errands.

We now can only await the overt act.

WE ALL BREAK IT

It would be rather interesting to ascertain just how many times a day the law is violated by thoughtless people, in Miami.

Not counting the usual petty crimes of disorderly conduct, drunkenness and the like cases that get into the municipal court, and the other crimes that at are dealt with in the county courts, it would be interesting to know how many people, who would be intensely surprised if they were told that they had broken a law, there are in the city.

For instance there is a law that states that no person shall cross certain streets except at the regular street intersections. It may be ventured that more than a thousand people cross Twelfth street at will, every day, and thus violate the ordinance.

Despite the rule against riding bicycles on the sidewalks, the law is broken by fairly good people hundreds of times a day.

Contrary to the state law, parents permit their children to operate automobiles, while still under the age when the law says they may do so lawfully.

Hundreds of men are profane on the streets and in public, other hundreds spit on the sidewalks, still others block the sidewalks at busy hours of the day, and so the tale goes on until it would appear that there is not a law abiding persons within the corporate limits of the city, no not one.

It is rather a pity that that project for re-naming certain Miami streets has been lost in the shuffle of so many other pressing things to do for the city. Winter visitors complain of the present mixed condition of affairs and even some Miamians have been heard to complain.

The Houston Post encourages northern people by saying it has had its first mess of dandelion greens of the season. Miami has had its strawberries and watermelons every since this time last year, which ought to be more encouragement for the shivering north.

With low temperatures in the north, it is well to remember that there are probably a thousand children in Miami who don't know what they are talking about when zero weather is being discussed.

OBSERVATIONS

According to Dixie, Jacksonville's carnival is a carnival of crime.

Well, Great Scott! They did find a leak, after all.

Yes, Prunella, there will still be a demand for kings after the war. Players will be just as anxious to fill their hands as ever they were.

We can still show visitors what looks like ruins at the place where Twelfth street ought to cross the Miami river, and perhaps they don't miss Europe so very much, after all.

It's about time to send Col. House to Europe, again.

MAKING THE BEST OF IT

Minneapolis Journal

Blessed is the man who during this superfluity of frost can trade a splinter of Minnesota for a feather of Florida by the mere payment of a cash premium. Blessed is he, and joy attend him on his retreat! But more blessed is the man who has learned to subdue the frost bogie and harness it to his joy sled. Surely this man has the retreater outstripped in the race for physical pleasure.

Few of us ever reach the Florida class. Now and forever most Minnesotans will winter in Minnesota. This being true, let us enjoy it. Winter is hostile only to those who fear. It is monotonous only to the dull of eye and heart. The bright and the bold are boon companions with winter in its outdoor entertainments.

Inasmuch as winter comes every year, it is the part of wisdom to learn to joy in it, and not to run from it or shiver at it. Every child physically fit to attend school should be fitted out with shoe-packs, mittens and mackinaws, and taught to ski and snowshoe, to wallow in cheerful drifts, to make cross-country hikes, to hunt for the telltale trails of winter birds and small beasts, to study the rich lore of the frozen world, and learn to be on friendly terms with frost.

The whole public system could well afford to close its doors snowy Friday afternoons and turn its population lose to forage in the fields under competent captains. Cultivate the winter carnival. Thus redder blood will flow in the veins of our northern folk, less distress will attend the ushering in of winter, and the enfeebling yearnings for Florida will fade away forever. Winter defied brings pleasures that are unknown to summer solicited.

WITNESS GIVES COURT THRILL

Atlanta.—Mrs. W. H. Felton, of Cartersville, well-known writer and lecturer, was the central figure in the trial of the Daves' will case for a short time Friday morning. She was on the stand as a witness for the Venable plaintiffs, and because of her sharp and witty repartee and her back talk with lawyers, the judge and jury she came near breaking up the court. As it was, Judge Pendleton found it quite difficult to keep order.

At one point in her testimony, while she was making some comment of her own, Attorney Ben Conyers, of counsel for Dr. Joel T. Daves, who is seeking to break the will of his wife, objected to the line of her testimony on the ground that it was irrelevant and not admissible.

Quick as a flash Mrs. Felton, pointing her finger at Mr. Conyers, said: "Sit down, Ben Conyers; I have known you since you were a little boy; I have held you on my knee and have spanked you."

Several times she addressed the judge and jury and several times she directed her remarks to the lawyers.

"I read in the paper the other day," said Mrs. Felton, "that some woman testifying in this case had stated that Mrs. Daves, who was then Mrs. Collins, had gone out to catch Dr. Daves. I want to say right here and now that Dr. Daves ran after her just as much as she ever ran after him."

Mrs. Felton said Mrs. Daves had asked her advice about marrying Dr. Daves and said she had advised against it.

"When Dr. Daves put on his silk hat, with his little mustache underneath, he looked like a Russian count," Mrs. Felton exclaimed, to the astonishment of the courtroom.

"My friend fell in love with the paraphernalia of the presiding elder, and she thought that some day she would be the wife of a bishop.

"Every time he put on that shiny silk hat Mrs. Daves fell more and more in love with him," Mrs. Felton ended.

WHAT MAKES THE WHEELS GO AROUND?

This, and Other Things, Explained On Screen At the Hippodrome Friday

Picture yourself standing inside a huge automobile motor; imagine yourself gazing at close range upon the mysterious "whys" and "wherefores" of what makes the wheels go 'round in that small but formidable space underneath the hood of the car you drive.

This is one of the effects obtained by Gilman M. Flint, of the Society of Automobile engineers, in his motion picture talk on the Knight sleeve valve motor, to be given Friday afternoon and evening at the Hippodrome theatre. Without the aid of the motion picture, according to J. T. Weathers, under whose auspices the discussion is to be held, it would be extremely difficult for Mr. Flint to bring out clearly and concisely many of the points concerning the Knight motor that are vital to its construction and therefore interesting to the audience. The pictures produced under the personal supervision of Mr. Flint are deciared to be the finest scientific and educational films ever released.

"In his lecture, with the aid of the motion pictures, Mr. Flint shows the wide opening and positive closing of the sleeve valve, which makes the Knight different from motors of all other types."

FIRE LOSSES FOR JANUARY

Were Kept Down To Minimum, Twenty Dollars Covering Loss For Month

The fire losses for the month of January were reduced to the lowest possible minimum, according to the records kept by Chief Chase. There were sixteen alarms during the month and this number included several brush fires, none of which caused any damage, although several of them were threatening.

According to the records, the damage amounted to but $20 to property in the city, which does not include a fire in a Pullman car lying in the Florida East Coast railway yards.

Seven of teh fires are of unknown origin, while the most of the conflagrations were caused by sparks from some cause, the principal of which was from the burning of rubbish. There was but one false alarm during the entire month and one suspicious blaze. Another fire was caused by the upsetting of a lantern which caused the greatest loss.

THRIFT DAY A TIME FOR NEW HABITS

Occasion, Next Saturday, Will Be Observed Appropriately In Miami

(By W. J. Peck)

Saturday, February 3, has been named as "Thrift Day" by the bankers of our country. The memo, you are to make on your calendar is this:

"Get Another Thrift Habit."

A lot of good thrift preaching has been done by the bankers and other interested citizens in the last two years. Now it is time to act; time to "hit the trail."

Thrift day should mean something concrete for Jones, Mrs. Jones, and all the Jones children. Down at the store, or in the office, Jones can spare a minute to figure out a way to translate his impulse to save into a definite setting aside of a part of his week's pay or profits for deposit in the bank. Very positively, Jones can resolve to make that bank deposit the nucleus of a fund which later will become an investment fund.

Another thing Jones can do on Thrift day, organize among his fellows at the store or in the office some sort of co-operative Thrift club. It is easier to save when all of those about you are also saving, just as it's easy to spend when the gang is getting free with the coin.

To Mrs. Jones, Thrift day can be made to mean something concrete also. Not one Mrs. Jones out of ten who read this knows, practically what it means to run a home on the budget plan. It is really an interesting plan well worth knowing about.

Let Mrs. Jones resolve to adopt the budget plan on Thrift day; figure her income for the next four weeks, and then sit down to decide definitely how she shall spend every cent of it. Probably she won't be able to stick to her budget appropriation, but she will try, and trying is the beginning of Thrift wisdom.

What can Thrift day be made to mean to Johnny and Billy and Helen and Annie and Margery and baby? Inside the family occurs the most effective teaching the kids will get. While children are young and easily impressed, habits of waste, or of prudence are fixed. So, on Thrift day, let each one of the Jones flock show some coin either earned or saved, anything from a cent to a dime.

If Thrift day could bring to everybody a sensible definition of Thrift, what a day it would be! Can you frame one better than this:

"Thrift is moderate saving and sensible investment."

INDIVIDUAL THRIFT TO BE DEVELOPED "THRIFT DAY" FEB. 3

Philadelphia Public Ledger: All over the United States Feb. 3 has been designated as Thrift Day. How many people in this vast land of ours have given a thought to this one word—Thrift? How many have been putting it into effect and how incomparable are the numbers that have given it so little attention and consideration? Among the few that have been thrifty and prosperous are men who are interested in your welfare—in the good of the people. They see the negligence of the great majority, the waste of time and money that is foolishly spent. This day was inaugurated by those to set up new inspiration, to give you new ideas in which to mee tthe demands of nature easier, to teach you to save and economize.

Are you among the few that have been saving? Are you laying aside each day, week or month a certain amount for future needs? Don't you realize the importance and necessity of being prepared? Now is the time to start. Do not put it off another day. A few nickels, dimes or dollars saved and properly placed in a way that will net you a small saving each year and by adding to and compounding each succeeding year will place you in a position that when you will have reached that ripe old age to declare yourself independent.

Don't led "Old Man Time" creep upon you. Don't let old age catch you still struggling along in the same old rut that you have trod so long. Get out and get busy, be thrifty and get int othe upper class, where you can hold your head among the foremost. Economize in your daily living by eliminating the leakage and waste. Look to the future. Think of what you could have done if you had taken advantage of the time and opportunities that have gone by. It isn't too late, but the opportune time is right now. Not a minute longer can you afford to throw away—not a penny can you afford to let out without doing yourself an injustice.

Consult those who know and make a solemn resolution to start on Thrift Day, Feb. 3.

Twelve-hour, twenty-four-hour and ship time can be told simultaneously by a new clock dial.

JANUARY ARRESTS 492,

The police were busy with arrests during January which closed yesterday. The list of arrests totalled 492 up to last evening, but seveal more were added to this number before midnight. Sergeant Lindstrom had not figured up the total amount of the fines during the month yesterday, but he will attend to it today.

REFORMSCHOOL FOR NEGRO BOY

Judge Blanton Sends Raymond Reynolds Off To State Institution

Seven-year-old Raymond Reynolds, a little negro boy, who has given the police and sheriff's office any amount of trouble during the past few months was ordered sent to the reform school by County Judge Sam Barco yesterday, much to the sorrow of the boy's mother who wept for more than half an hour during the preliminary hearing, yesterday afternoon.

When Judge Barco heard the long list of acts of the boy which ended with the stealing of a horse and wagon, he readily announced his decision.

The boy also endeavored to get another boy, Leon Sears, involved with him, but he was discharged. Prisoners in the county jail heard the Reynolds boy admit that he only wanted the other boy held in order that he would have company on the way to the reform school.

The case of Horace Goss, a white boy, who was arrested for several alleged acts o ftheft, was postponed until today.

NEW WATERWAY TO LAKE OKEECHOBEE BE FAVORITE ROUTE

Step by step, the great central portion of this wonderful state, is being opened up to the tourist investor, and farmer, as a result of improved transportation, and one of the most important links in the chain of transportation is the new Palm Beach canal, from Palm Beach to Lake Okeechobee. This canal promises to be a very favorite waterway for the yachtsman who can go in a few hours from Palm Beach to the magnificent lake region where he may hunt or fish to his heart's desire. What a wonderful opportunity for the tourist to be able to leave the east coast in his own ship, and pass up the canal, and enter the happy hunting ground of the interior, and what for? Almost every kind of fresh water fish that one can think of, bass, speckled perch, blue brim, channel cat, or should he perfer the gun, there are to be had in unlimited numbers coot, duck, coon, deer or wild turkey. Parties are arriving every day at Moore Haven, the headquarters for the hunting parties, where they have perfect hotel accommodations, and all the conveniences of city life, and yet in the heart of the finest hunting and fishing country to be found in the entire south country.

To those who have settled at Moore Haven it is a matter of importance and particular interest that they are in a country where such little effort on their part will bring such prolific results, and where they can go out for a day's sport and enjoy a life worth while, in a country where the sun shines every day and where a man can make money, and lots of it, and enjoy real sport at his pleasure. Can one htink of anything better? And to think that it is so near at hand ,up on Lake Okeechobee, at Moore Haven, the new metropolis of the lake country, Moore Haven, the wonder city.

MOTOR BOAT RACES FEBRUARY 15, 16 AND 17

In a story of the coming motor boat regatta published in the Sunday issue of The Herald, the statement was inadvertibly made that the races would be held o nthe 18, 19 and 20th of February, instead of on the 15, 16 and 17th of February. The former dates were originally named in all literature sent out by the regatta committee, but since then it was deemed inadvisable to have the races in January and they were accordingly deferred until February.

B. L. PLUMBLEY HAS GAINED 30 POUNDS

"Most Everybody in Our Community Is Taking Tanlac Since Seeing the Good It Did Me and My Wife," Says Dairyman.

"Yes, sir, it's a fact, I have gained every bit of thirty pounds and I feel like a new man since I started taking this Tanlac," said B. L. Plumbley, the well-known dairyman at Hixon's Station, Chattanooga, Tenn., while talking to one of the clerks at the Live and Let Live Drug Store," a few days ago.

"I have suffered with stomach trouble for the past two years," continued Mr. Plumbley, "and I'd have the worst headaches you ever heard of. At times I'd get so dizzy I couldn't stand up and couldn't see anything but black spots in front of my eyes. I didn't have any appetite at all and I couldn't sleep at night and I was restless all the time.

"Tanlac not only helped me, but it did my wife worlds of good; she had sick-dizzy headaches all the time and would vomit up her meals. Her stomach was out of order and her food would sour and gas would form and she just suffered all the time. She was weak and run-down and when she began taking Tanlac she began to come right along. She took four bottles of the medicine and I wish you could see her now, you'd never think she'd been sick a day in her life. She has gained in strength and weight, and I never hear her complain any more. The sick headaches have left her and her stomach don't bother her at all. She never vomits any more and she can eat anything she wants and it don't hurt her one bit. She sleeps like a child now and she's in better health than she has been in in many a day.

"Look at me, you'd never think I weighed as little as a hundred and twenty-two pounds, would you? Well I did, but now I'm just as stout as I can be and I can't remember when I felt as good as I do now. My stomach is in just as good shape as it ever was, and I haven't a pain or ache about me anywhere. I don't know what it is to vomit now, and I haven't had a headache since I started on the medicine. I feel as strong as a mule and I can attend to my work better than I have in a long time. When I get up in the morning now I eat a hearty breakfast and go about my work like I had never been sick at all.

"I'm in good shape in every way and my wife and myself have got the neighbors talking about the way we have come out and I think just about everybody in the community is taking the medicine since they have seen what it has done for us."

The public is warned against buying Tanlac from any dealer excepting duly authorized agents. Genuine Tanlac is sold in Miami exclusively by Miami Drug Co.; in Ft. Lauderdale by Beck's Home Drug Store; in Homestead by Homestead Pharmacy; in Goulds by W. H. Cauley; in Princeton by Drake Lumber Co.; and in Silver Palm, R. F. D. Princeton, by Wm. Anderson.

98 ARE FOR DWELLINGS

More Than Three A Day—No Indication That Activity Will Cease

The year of 1917 has started out as a record breaker in so far as building permits are concerned for the first month of the new year, which ended yesterday, recorded the net sum of $130,810, which is in keeping with the record made during the past year, and the indications are that the coming eleven months will be busy ones.

Of the one hundred and eight permits that were issued by Building Inspector D. B. Walker, ninety-eight were for dwelling houses within the corporatae limits of the city, while but ten permits were issued for repairs such as removals of houses and alterations.

There were seven garage permits issued, two for church buildings and one for a workshop.

Of the ninety-eight houses that are to be erected seventy-four are frame buildings, while the balance of the number are to be constructed of concrete. The most costly residence will call for an expenditure of $4,500.

FORTIFY THE HARBOR NOW IS ADVISED

Engineer J. N. Hazelhurst Makes Suggestion For Protection In Case of War

NEED FORTIFICATIONS

And Movement Cannot Begin Aggressively Too Early With the War Department

Miami should start at once a movement to secure federal aid in fortifying this harbor, was the opinion expressed by J. N. Hazlehurst, a part-year resident of this city and also of Atlanta.

Mr. Hazlehurst is residing on his farm north of the city. He returned recently from Chattanooga, Tenn., where, it will be remembered by Herald readers, he was appraiser for the city in the movement for municipal ownership of its plant, having been summoned to that duty while he was in Miami.

Florida is not a new proposition to Mr. Hazlehurst, for in 1898 he was chief engineer for the city of Tampa, and later filled the same position with the city of Mobile.

And it so happens in the history of events that both in Tampa and Mobile the government placed necessary fortifications while Mr. Hazlehurst held the two respective positions referred to.

So a statement from him that it is important that Miami should get busy at once for harbor defense is important.

The Miami Claims.

"There is more reason for Miami having harbor improvements than for either Tampa or Mobile," said Mr. Hazlehurst, "because Miami is so close to the ocean deep water, and hostile ships could approach to within close range and destroy the city in a very short time; while the other two cities are thirty miles away from the ocean deep water and are not nearly so easily approached.

"Beside this, Miami is a city now that has a right to whatever protection the government can give it, and the city has the right to make a vigorous demand that something be done immediately.

"It has occurred to me," Mr. Hazlehurst continued, "that the fortifications could well be across the bay, possibly backed up by others on the mainland, and these would call for such batteries as would be necessary to take care of them—two companies, at least, I should think.

"In these days, wars are commenced in a day. It was so with the European war. It might be so with America. We may never have a war at all, but if we do, some of us would feel safer with good strong defenses such as I have referred to."

How to Go At It.

Mr. Hazlehurst suggested that the subject is one for the Chamber of Commerce to start and follow up vigorously—"for," said he, "after you start it, and get favorable action, it might take a year or two to place all the guns as they would be wanted. Delays might prove costly, while promptness might be a valuable investment. We don't want anybody's cannon shooting up Miami, especially unless we have an opportunity to shoot back."

Asked as to the best method of procedure, Mr. Hazlehurst said that General Black, chief of engineers of the United States army, is a close friend of the south and knows conditions here. General Black spent his earlier days in St. Augustine, and would no doubt do everything consistent within his power to assist in the enterprise.

MAY BE MUCH COLDER BY TONIGHT

A supplementary weather bureau erport late last night told of the most severe cold wave of the year, which is now sweeping eastward over the entire country, and is expected to strike Florida within a few hours.

Much colder weather is predicted for Miami Thursday night, and freezing weather is expected as far south as central Florida by Friday night.

The thermometer fell forty degrees at St. Louis yesterday and fifty degrees at Rapid City, S. D.

SYMPATHY, LOVE AND COMPASSION go out to our fellow-beings in distress. But have you ever had the subject brought very close to you? Have you ever seen the family facing unexpected misfortune, its earning power perhaps affected, and a burial lot in immediate demand?

If so, you will appreciate how much more satisfactory it is in every way to arrange for property of this kind while there is no immediate need. A family lot is an object of family pride—the members take an interest in its selection and beautification.

ONEIDA WILL REMAIN HERE FOR SEASON

Commodore Benedict, Owner, Makes This His Winter Headquarters Is Announced

ALCOYNE HELD OUTSIDE

Because Too Great Depth For the Channel—Fishing Records Yesterday

(By W. S. Thomas.)

Miami will be the winter headquarters of Commodore E. C. Benedict, whose handsome steam yacht, Oneida, was the first deep draft pleasure yacht to enter the new deep water channel. This much was intimated by friends of the wealthy yachtsman yesterday.

Commodore Benedict spent yesterday on the reef on board one of his boats with a party of friends and returned to the yacht Oneida, at the Terminal dock, late in the afternoon, with a handsome catch of fish.

The commodore is accompanied on the cruise by aparty of friends, among them being Mrs. Alfred Heyn and daughters, the Misses Florence, Marguerite and Frances Heyn, of Orange, N. J.; Mrs. L. T. Huntington and daughter, Miss Esther Huntington, of New Rochelle, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dimock, of Peekamose, N. Y.; Dr. C. F. Bingaman, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Justus Van Lengere, Jr., of Orange, N. J.

The Oneida will remain in Miami for an indefinite period and will remain here while not on cruises for the balance of the winter.

Henry W. Putnam, Jr., is on board his fine yacht, Alcyone, which has been lying at anchor off the government cut, but which will be unable to enter this port on account of the shallow water, as the Alcyone draws fifteen feet, according to the New York Yacht club register.

Mr. Putnam has been on shore a number of times since his arrival, and regrets the inability of his yacht reaching the Terminal dock. The Alcyone is 182 feet long, thirty-foot beam and draws fifteen feet of water.

Fishing off Ragged Key yesterday, Elmer E. Garretson, who was out with a party of friends on the charter boat Waho, landed a Spanish lobster, which is one of the rarest species of crustations, which will be mounted and will be sent to the Smithonian Institute at Washington. The lobster measures about eight inches in length and weighs about one and a half pounds. The peculiar specimen was placed on exhibition in the rotunda of the hotel Royal Palm last night and attracted much attention.

Fishing from the charter boat Corsair, Captain Scott, yesterday, A. B. Levy, of New York, caught a forty-two pound grouper and a large number of other fish.

R. T. Fishbourn was out on the charter boat Helena, Captain Manson, with a party of friends yesterday and brought in a large catch of grouper and mackerel.

W. A. Waltman, John A. Hennesey, of New York City; Elmer E. Garretson, of Huntington, L. I., and Henry Brown, of Riverhead, L. I., were out on board Captain Moller's boat, Waho, yesterday, and caught ten barracuda, six grouper, a mutton fish and a Spanish lobster.

Irwin M. Krohn, park commissioner of Cincinnati, while out fishing with a party of friends, on board Captain Crossett's boat, Angler, yesterday, caught one grouper that weighed 38 pounds and a number of other fish, including two large barracuda.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. White, of New York City, who are sojourning in the city for the season, were out on board Captain Ross' boat, Juliet, yesterday, and returned to the Royal Palm dock with a shark, four grouper and three barracuda.

The schooner Frances E., arrived in port from Nassau with a large number of passengers and a miscellaneous cargo yesterday.

TRY IT AND SEE!

Lift your corns or calluses off with fingers! Doesn't hurt a bit!

[illegible] chemist discovered a new ether compound and called it freezone and it now can be had in tiny bottles as here shown for a few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone upon a tender corn or painful callus and instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can just lift it off with the fingers.

No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying freezone or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! Seems magical. It works like a charm. Genuine freezone has a yellow label. Don't accept any except with the yellow label.

DIXIE HIGHWAY TRACT

To those residing permanently in Miami and to tourists here for the season

J. A. Gates & Son, have a message.

We have formulated a plan whereby we can greatly reduce the price of real estate to purchasers, cause the business of real estate to be more highly respected, and to be more enjoyable and satisfactory to those engaged in the traffic.

We purpose to sell lots in a tract by employing hired salesmen just as a merchant sells goods in his store by clerks in his employ. Parties visiting our Dixie Highway Tract, now being offered, will be shown over the tract by our salesmen. A tag bearing the lot and block number and price of lot is attached to a stake placed in front of each lot, to be detached by purchaser and presented at office of tract owner, where papers in settlement will be drawn.

We can, we believe, by this method save purchaser 25 per cent or more and complete the transaction most expediciously and satisfactorily.

We especially call attention to location of our Dixie Highway Tract. It adjoins the Charles Deering place on the north and extends from Dixie Highway to Bay View Ave., overlooking the Bay. All inside lots are held at a uniform price of $195 each, corners $300. If in this connection you note the fact that lots in Flander's tract which adjoins the Charles Deering place on the south are held at prices ranging from about $3,000 to $5,000, and are on lower land; you will readily see that lots in Dixie Highway will certainly appreciate rapidly in value with the growth of Miami and that you will make no mistake in buying now. Is it unreasonable to expect an advance of one hundred per cent in values within one year. May we not urge those of our home people thinking to secure a lot while cheap in price and most attractively located to select now. May we not urge tourists seeking a place for building a winter home to visit us; and may we not especially urge builders who want to get a bunch of lots on which to build houses to sell or rent to select now while the selecting is good—the bunches are unbroken.

Dixie Highway Tract has many advantages, such as electric lights, telephones, jitney busses about half hourly, ice, meat, groceries delivered daily, daily mail delivery, high school, churches, literary clubs, fraternities, and other advantages of a happy and cultured community.

TO HANDLE A LIVE PROBLEM

Washington, Jan. 31.—Delegates to the fifth annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which will open at the New Willard hotel tomorrow, have begun to arrive in the city and many have reported at the headquarters established in the hotel.

It is expected that the meeting this year will be the largest in the history of the organization. More than one hundred boards of trade, chambers of commerce and similar organizations, located in all the principal cities of the country, will be represented by delegates.

Final arrangements for the four days' sessions were completed today at a meeting of the executive council of the organization. The official program indicates a lively interest in many public questions. War time problems will be given a prominent place in the discussions. The railroad situation, national defense, daylight saving and a variety of other important questions also will be given attention. Results of a referendum taken by the chamber among its affiliated organizations on the railroad problem, particularly the prevention of strikes and lockouts, will be announced.

Numerous resolutions dealing with matters of live public interest have been prepared for introduction and discussion. The Philadelphia Board of Trade will ask for a referendum on the subject of government ownership of public utilities.

The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce will urge action to facilitate the negotiation of a commercial treaty between this country and Russia to enable American manufacturers to introduce their goods into Russia under the most favorable terms which it is possible to obtain. The Cleveland chamber will also ask the national organization to consider its proposal that the new tariff commission shall contain not only tariff experts, but also a representative of business men of national experience in foreign trade, a representative of the banking interests engaged in foreign trade, and one or more representatives of diplomatic experience, the entire commission to be practically non-partisan.

The Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce will ask for the consideration of a resolution declaring that no bill of lading shall contain any clause, sentence or word that will in any sense limit or minimize the liability of common carriers. The Chamber of Commerce of Jamestown, N. Y., will submit a proposal increasing the salaries of the members of the federal tariff commission, which were fixed by congress at $7,500 a year.

The Philadelphia Bourse will propose that congress shall provide for the compilation of official information concerning the movement of merchandise upon our inland and coastal waters, in order that the useless expenditures of no value to commerce may be prevented.

25-cent "Danderine" will save your hair and double its beauty.

Try this! Your hair gets soft, wavy, abundant and glossy at once.

Save your hair! Beautify it! It is only a matter of using a little Danderine occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

"Here you! What do you mean by telling that red-nosed bachelor friend of yours that marriage is all a lottery?" "I was just about to assure him, m'dear, that I won a prize."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

OVER GLADES TRIP IS MADE BY OFFICIALS

Seeking Information About the Okeechobee Country—Engineer Elliott In Party

West Palm Beach, Jan. 31.—Another stage in the plans for the development of the resources of Palm Beach county and the Okeechobee country was completed yesterday afternoon when a party of state and federal officials arrived in West Palm Beach, ending a tour through the Kissimmee river valley, around Lake Okeechobee and through the heart of the best of the Okeechobee country along the West Palm Beach canal.

The party made the tour from Okeechobee City on board the state boat Transit, and under the guidance of Chief Drainage Engineer F. C. Elliott and J. M. Burguieres, chairman of the products department of the West Palm Beach Board of Trade. It was composed of C. V. Piper, chief agrostologist of the bureau of plant industry, and R. A. Oakley, assistant to Mr. Piper, both of Washington, D. C.; Dr. W. F. Ward, chief animal husbandman, bureau of animal industry, also of Washington; Dr. P. H. Rolfs, director of United States experiment station, and J. M. Scott, professor of animal husbandry, of Gainesville; Dr. E. M. Nighbert, United States inspector in charge of tick eradication in Florida, and Executive Secretary P. L. Sutherland of the Florida tick eradication committee, ofof Jacksonville; C. S. Ucker, vice-president of the Southern Settlement and Development organization with headquarters at Baltimore; and Mr. Elliot and Mr. Burguieres.

The party came into Palm Beach county on the invasion of the Florida tick eradication committee and the products committee of the local board of trade, through its chairman, who with Mr. Elliot, met them at Okeechobee City last Thursday afternoon and on Friday morning proceeded to the entrance of the St. Lucie canal where the work being done by the Furst-Clark Company was inspected and the surrounding lands viewed to get an idea of its possibilities for cattle raising.

Officials Greatly Impressed.

Okeelanta on the North New river canal was the next stop and Dr. T. E. Will, a pioneer in co-operative development of that country was the host. Here a survey of the situation was made and the officials were most favorably impressed with the possibilities of Everglades land in the production of forage crops. Friday night was spent at the Forbes hotel on Ritta Island, after a stop at Ritta postoffice where a view of one of the furthest advanced developments on the lake shore was had. The grasses growing there proved the worth of the lake shore land for cattle and hog raising.

Saturday and Saturday night were spent at Moore Haven, where the field and truck crops added evidence of the fertility of the Okeechobee country to what has already been seen. The officials expressed themselves as amazed at the remarkable development which has occurred at Moore Haven during the past fifteen months. They said they were also thoroughly convinced that the Okeechobee country is one of the most fertile areas of land in the world and worthy of government recognition as such. They see many problems to be solved, just as other students of the country have seen; but they believe that there is a successful solution to every problem and that this trip will be valuable in finding the solutions.

A LITTLE BOY'S WORLD

Oh, a little boy's world is a wonderful place,
A land where grownups never stray.
It's a place where you never should wash your face,
And from morning till night just play.
It's a place to whistle, and laugh and sing,
It's a place where you've got to fight,
It's a place where no girls are allowed, by jing,
And a place where might is right.

It's a world full of slingshots and crippled dogs,
A world full of baseball bats,
A world full of dead mice and one-eyed hogs,
A world full of scalded cats.
A place where the boldest of robbers dwells,
As he plans out the deeds for his gang,
A place where a boy drops dead if he tells
Of the cave where the Death Skull hangs.

Oh, a little boy's world is a world all full
Of a little boy's fondest dreams,
A sister with nice long hair to pull,
No matter how loud she screams.
A place where he lolls on a bank to plan
For the day when a pirate bold,
He'll sail o'er the sea when the grows a man
And gather in slathers of gold.

ONE THOUSAND ACRES OF BROOM CORN AT MOORE HAVEN

Moore Haven is becoming noted for the bigness of its undertakings. No ordinary development this—but a big—virile—throbbing—tremendously active development, and this wonderful section is commanding the attention, and demanding the interest of and it is no wonder that it is gathering an impetus most unusual for a new city and country.

Think of One Thousand Acres Solid in Broom Corn

and what that alone means to this community—the work provided thereby in the clearing of the land, planting of the crop, cultivating, and the harvesting of this remarkable plantation of Broom Corn to be raised by Mr. Altland of Oklahoma.

It Was By No Mere Chance That Moore Haven

was selected by Mr. Altland for his big plantation. He came South looking for land, and came to be convinced by actual investigation, and he selected Moore Haven on its merits, from the standpoint of the intrinsic value, and productiveness of the soil. And so they come, and see, and buy.

Live Stock Men—Sugar Cane Men Potato Men—Broom Corn Men

Men who know what they want when they see it. Men who have to be sold on the basis of facts. Men who appreciate the fact that the $65.00 and $75.00 lands at Moore Haven are incomparable value, and will not be obtainable at these prices, in the near future, because based on their earning capacity they are worth four times that at least, and many more when the railway arrives.

MR. MIAMIAN, HOW ABOUT YOU? ARE YOU AWARE OF YOUR OPPORTUNITY?
ASK SOME OF THOSE WHO HAVE BOUGHT.
THEY WILL TELL YOU.

MISS THACKARA A BRIDE

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 31.—Prominent representatives of society in New York, Boston, Washington and several other cities were present at the wedding of Miss Eleanor Sherman Thackara and Frederic Cauldwell, of Washington, which took place today at Rosemont, a suburb of this city. The bride is a daughter of Alexander N. Thackara, the American consul-general in Paris, and a granddaughter of the late General William T. Sherman.

"Father," said the small boy, "what is a freebooter?" "I don't know exactly, my son. But I will say that with leather costing what it does, you want to get your mind away from any idea that a freebooter is a man who sells shoes for nothing."—Washington Star.

ADVERTISE IN THE HERALD

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

When complaints are freely heard, deeply considered and speedily reformed, then is the utmost bound of civil liberty attained, that wise men look for.—Milton.

"Bridget, you have broken as much chira this month as your wages amount to. Now, how can you prevent this occurring again?" "Oi don't know, mum," said Bridget, "unless ye raise me wages."—Chicago Hearld.

DIXIE HIGHWAY TRACT

To those residing permanently in Miami and to tourists here for the season, J. A. Gates and Son have a message. We have formulated a plan whereby we can greatly reduce the price of real estate to purchasers, cause the business of real estate to be more highly respected, and to be more enjoyable and satisfactory to those engaged in the traffic. We propose to sell lots in a tract by employing hired salesmen just as a merchant sells goods in his store by clerks in his employ. Parties visiting our Dixie Highway Tract, now being offered, will be shown over the tract by our salesmen. A tag bearing the lot and block number and price of lot is attached to a stake placed in front of each lot, to be detached by purchaser and presented at office of tract owner, where papers in settlement will be drawn. We can, we believe, by this method, save purchaser 25 per cent or more and complete the transaction most expeditiously and satisfactorily. We especially call attention to location of our Dixie Highway Tract. It adjoins the Charles Deering place on the north and extends from Dixie Highway to Bay View Ave., overlooking the Bay. All inside lots are held at a uniform price of $195 each, corners $300. If in this connection you note the fact that lots in Flander's tract, which adjoins the Charles Deering place on the south, are held at prices ranging from about $3,000 to $5,000 and are on lower land; you will readily see that lots in Dixie Highway will certainly appreciate rapidly in value with the growth of Miami and that you will make no mistake in buying now. Is it unreasonable to expect an advance of one hundred per cent in values within one year. May we not urge those of our home people thinking to secure a lot while cheap in price and most attractively located, to select now. May we not urge tourists seeking a place for building a winter home to visit us; and may we not especially urge builders who want to get a bunch of lots on which to build houses, to sell or rent, to select now while the selecting is good—the bunches are unbroken.
Dixie Highway Tract has many advantages, such as electric lights, telephones, jitney busses about half hourly, ice, meat, groceries delivered daily, daily mail delivery, high school, churches, literary clubs, fraternities, and other advantages of a happy and cultured community.

VATICAN UPHOLDS TEXAS GIRL'S MARRIAGE TO COUNT

COUNTESS MOSCHINI

The Vatican court of Cassation has rejected the application for annulment of his marriage made by Count Victor Moschini to Olga Lulu Davis, of Fort Worth, Tex. They were married in 1910, when they met at a French watering place. The count alleged that Miss Davis was really the daughter of a Mexican, and considerable trouble was caused her by the fact that she could not get a birth certificate in Texas.

AMUSEMENTS

TODAY AT THE PARAMOUNT

"God's Country and the Woman," is a special Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature that is bound to take its place among the greatest motion picture plays yet produced. It is an eight-reeler and was photographed in the deep snows of Great Bear Valley, up in the San Bernardino mountains of Southern California.

Bear Valley is 9000 feet above sea level and is reached by a dog road over which Rollin S. Sturgeon and his Vitagraph players journeyed to camp for six months, while filming this photoplay which has to do with the law of virtue in the great northwest.

William Duncan, George Holt and Nell Shipman are the principals who enact the drama of a girl whose mother is overpowered by a villain and gives birth to a child in the absence of her husband. The daughter comes bravely to the front to assume the responsibility of the motherhood. To preserve her own honor, the girl, just before her father returns, writes him that she is going to the north woods to meet her "husband." The ruse works well, for a young man drifting down stream on a homeward journey from the wilds beaches his canoe near the girl's forest shelter; and falls in love with her.

She prevails upon him through his great love for her to pose as her husband, and they go back home together to protect the good name of the mother. A marriage ceremony is performed, but they live in separate rooms in a frontier home, until finally the baby dies and the villain, who all the while is trying to get possession of the girl, is devoured by a pack of sledge dogs, who trail him down after a sensational battle in which the arch-conspirator and his fellow outlaws in "Devil's Nest" are vanquished and the girl who has been captive is freed by her sweetheart. Thereafter, in the glow of the burning rendezvous, the hero takes the girl to his heart as wife in fact as well as name, for in the passing ordeals the violation of the mother becomes known to him and his bride becomes free to claim his love. Dog trains going full tilt up hill and down and a series of great human adventres holding together in perfect cohesion a wonderful story, make "God's Country and the Woman" a film masterpiece.

THEDA BARA AT THE FOTOSHO TODAY

The story of a woman who deliberately takes the place of another she believes dead, and is called to account after she has fallen in love with the man who befriended her, makes Theda Bara's new photoplay for William Fox one of exceptionally gripping heart-interest. In "Her Double Life," Miss Bara plays the part of Mary Doone, who begins life at a disadvantage, as a child of the slums. She works her way to a high position in London society—then comes the discovery, and all is over, it seems. Don't fail to see how she works out her own salvation.

AT THE HIPPODROME TODAY

A drama of love and revenge, with its scenes laid in the "Old South," is "The Bride of Hate," Triangle play, which will be seen at the Hippodrome theatre today. The principal characters in the story are Dr. Dupley Duprez, a wealthy planter, whose orphaned niece is betrayed by a young blood named Paul Crenshaw. The girl kills herself, and the doctor revenges himself upon Crenshaw by introducing to him as a creole a slave girl whom he has won at cards. The girls, Mercedes, is an unwilling party to the plot. Crenshaw falls violently in love with Mercedes and marries her, after which Duprez disgraces him by revealing that he has married a negress. Crenshaw and Mercedes separate immediately after the ceremony, and the young man, sunken in dissipation, soon meets a violent death. Then Duprez makes the startling discovery that Mercedes is really a Spanish girl who has been wrongfully held in slavery, and her forgiveness, granted when he seeks it, is the greatest joy of his life.

APRON ROUTE TO FLORIDA

New York Herald.

This morning my bacon was burned and my coffee was lukewarm.

There was a new voice droning "Lamb chops, steaks," etc. A freckled face and a head of frowzled light hair had supplanted the demure countenance of Lucile. And before Lucile there was Maude, and before Maude there was Frieda, and before that—But one can't remember them all. In every New York hotel it has been the same ever since the waiters and waitresses began taking the "apron route" to Florida, beginning with the first of the year.

If your orange is not served the way you like it you will know it is because your favorite waiter is headed blithely for the land of flowers and sunshine, where he can have all the oranges of his own that he wants.

Every year New York hotels are crippled by the exodus of servants to the big hotels of Palm Beach, St. Augustine, Miami and other Florida points, but this year it is worse than usual. Because of the war more New York than ever before is taking its winter travel in the south rather than across the water. That means more skilled waiters than ever. They offer inducements by paying the way of the New York waiter to Florida. Thus it is, while your Palm Beach suit clad gentleman leans back with satisfaction after he has been deftly served by one Jules, you in your New York corner glower at the world in general, and especially at the clumsy handed tyro who has brought you your eggs underdone! Jules always remembered that you wanted them turned over. And now the faithless Jules is basking in the southern sunshine and the liberal tips of the New York man who can afford to pass the cold months away from the roar of the subway. It's a very unfair world!

Oh, it's a happy time they have down there! About the only thing that can keep a waitress or waiter in New York are the cares of a family. I know one blonde waitress who brings your soup while its hot and who by some magic art obtains real cream for your coffee. But, alas, she's gone—gone to Florida! And her husband has gone, too.

"Jim's been going south in the winters for fourteen years," said Adele when I was about to weep bitter tears into the soup because she was going away. "That's where I met Jim, down at Palm Beach. I've been going there for seven years myself. We have no children, so we both go down there every winter Believe me, it's swell, too. You get a grand room and three good meals a day and eighteen dollars a month just to spend. And you have time in between waiting on tables to go swimming and walking around and dancing and watching the swells enjoy themselves. Gee! I wouldn't stay in New York in the winter. It's too cold here!"

Adele shrugged her shoulders in disdain. The next day I saw her no more. Her place was taken by one "Slab-Sided Lizzie," with unkempt hair, who brought me my rolls and egg at half-past eight and my coffee at nine. That was the beginning of my troubles. The whole dining room was under a cloud of gloom. Querulous glances and acid retorts shot athwart the gloom from every corner. Nobody was happy. Everybody mourned. Nothing went right. And to make it worse, you no sooner began to like a waiter and his ways than he disappeared.

"Now, where's James?" you demand of the head waiter.

"Gone," says that long suffering individual in a resigned tone. "Gone to Florida."

Almost you can learn to tell the lucky ones who are taking the "apron route" south. They wear a devil-may-care smiling air. Beyond the smoke of the kitchen they have visions of a long train journey, good times and good money at the end of it. Theirs not to worry if you get dyspepsia and general gloom when they are gone. Head waiters are driven to desperation They go out and stalk their aproned prey in the streets. They grab up dock wallopers, section hands, anything, and tie them up in apron strings.

After dainty, fair-haired Frieda there came to my table a big fellow six feet tall, with hands like hams. He popped out of a corner as soon as I was seated and boomed, "Zoop?" He flung out the dishes as though he were behind a quick lunch counter and all the diners were brakemen who had to catch their train. But he did his best, and I gave him a tip in grateful recognition. He only lasted the one meal. At night his place was filled by a wistful, flowerlike little person, whose black dress was very clean—but she did a veritable dead march from "Saul" between the dining room and the kitchen. She could serve the coldest beans and the weakest coffee of any girl I ever saw.

Many New York waiters and waitresses go to the same hotels in Florida year after year. They do not return north until the wealthy tourists are flocking back also. Then, with their pockets full of tips and their stomachs full of oranges, they drop back into their old places here, sleek and content after a winter among the nabobs of the south.

And in a voice made feeble from weak coffee and bad eggs you meekly say, "Glad to see you back, Jules."

ERECT CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL AT SHILOH

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 31.—Through the efforts of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, there will be unveiled on the first day of next June a $50,000 monument of impressive beauty in the Shiloh National Park, near the state line of Tennessee and Mississippi in commemoration of soldiers of the Confederacy.

The monument fund has been raised and the monument itself is complete. It reveals a group representing death and night on either side of a figure of Confederacy and death taking from the limp hand of Confederacy the laurels of victory. At the base of the monument will be the profile of Gen. Albert Sydney Johnston, the hero of Shiloh, in high relief. The memorial was designed and executed by Frederick C. Hibbard, a Chicago sculptor.

The monument fund was raised largely through subscription of chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy throughout the country. Among the individual contributors was Senator John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, whose father is accounted to have been the first officer killed in the battle of Shiloh.

The date for the dedication of the monument has been fixed for June 1, in order that the Confederate veterans on their way to the national reunion at Washington may stop over at Shiloh to participate in the ceremonies.

SHE ASKS WOMEN TO MARCH IN THE INAUGURAL PARADE

MRS. J. H. BEGGS

Mrs. J. H. Beggs, of Washington, chairman of the women's division of the inaugural committee, has sent out an invitation to the women's organizations of the country to send delegations to march in the inaugural parade. These went directly to the governor of every state. She believes so much has been done to recognize women officially in the last four years tney should take part in the important function of installing a president.

THE BEST IS YET TO BE

A brighter day is dawning,
Its splendor bids us wake;
It comes to banish darkness,
Men's hardships of mistake.
And problems still perplexing
Will then be understood,
And many a human trouble
Solved in the common good.

Great minds have gathered wisdom
To bless the human race,
And thoughtful men will always
The good and true embrace.
Thus also shall man's welfare,
In vain so long pursued,
Be reached through the ideal
Of all men's common good.

This world is God's creation;
He made and loves us all;
His light to us our reason,
His voice our conscience call;
His works our inspiration;
His life our strength renewed;
His law our guide and duty
That seeks the common good.

Oh, rouse ye! Thought and action
Must haste the brighter day;
Wrong still is to be vanquished
That lingers on our way,
Till equal rights and comfort
Shall all mankind include,
And happy labor findeth
Joy in the common good.

Then in men's lives shall blossom
The flowers of righteousness
That promise the fruition
Of kindness, beauty, grace!
And may at last truth's knowledge
Set men and women free,
To learn in retrospection
The Best is yet to be.

MISSOULA TO DOUSE THE REDLIGHTS

Missoula, Mont., Jan. 31.—The so-called redlight district, an established institution in Missoula since the first settlement of the town, will end its existence tonight. Notice has been served on all the inmates by order of the mayor and chief of police that beginning tomorrow the state and city laws forbidding houses of prostitution will be strictly enforced. House owners likewise have been notified that they will be held to strict accountability if they permit their property to be used for immoral purposes.

ORGANIZE FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Minneapolis, Jan. 31.—A new football league to embrace the leading independent teams of the northwest will take the field next fall, if plans under consideration at a meeting of promoters here today are successfully carried out. The plan is based on the supposition that with a permanent organization interest in the independent gridiron game will be increased, and at the same time the sport will be placed on a better paying basis. It is expected that college men can be induced to take up the game to a greater extent that before and the general class of play improved.

GERMANY DECLARES FOR UNRESTRICTED NAVAL WAR

Peremptorily Answers Pres. Wilson's Senate Address

No Hint Had Been Given That Such A Note Was Coming and Washington Officials View the Situation As Extremely Grave and Expres Much Concern

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS BE SEVERED

If Promise In Sussex ase Is Not Carried Out—Course of United Sates In Crisis Presented By New Nte Is All In Hands of Presient Wilson

UNRESTRICTE NAVAL WARFARE

Berlin, Jan. 31.—Gmany, in answering President Wilson's senate speech, dares for unrestricted naval warfare.

NOTE WAS COMPLETE SRPISE TALL WASHINGTON OFFICIALS

Washington, Jan. 31.—he preliminary reading by officials of the German note, annoing the unrestricted naval warfare, beginning tomorrow, was llowed by expressions which gave the impression that the reting situation was viewed with extreme gravity and prompttion is expected.

There has been no offil hint that such a note was coming, and Germany's declarationr unrestricted warfare was received with the greatest surprise.

It is assumed that suc warfare means the sinking without warning of freight and senger vessels, which the United States, during the negotians over the Sussex case, told Germany would cause the UnitStates to sever diplomatic relations.

The decision as to w shall be the course of the United States, lies with the presid.

The German note to United States, which Ambassador von Bernstorff handed to retary Lansing and all neutral repsentatives, refers to the pident's recent address to the senate, and goes into detail of thar situation and then declares that Germany finds herself "pelled to a fight for her existence, again forced upon her, h the full employment of all the weapons at her disposal.'

The memoranda attad states that this will be done by unrestricted naval warfaand gives the zones through which American ships may tra tells how they should be marked and outlines fully the zonmentioned, which, if followed would eliminate practically all caband trade with the allies.

The statement says the German lists of what is contraband will be observed imdling such vessels.

The note at the outrefers to President Wilson's address as important, and says Germany is gratified to learn that the main tendencies of tddress correspond largely to German desires and principles, eially regarding self government and the equality of rights foall nations.

Germany, it says, we sincerely glad if the recognition of this principle should giveedom to Ireland and India.

The German note trepudiates any desire on the part of Germany to enter allian"which serve to enforce countries to competition or might, involve them in a net of selfish intrigues," but it says thermany would be glad to co-operate in efforts to prevent fu wars.

GERMANY'S NOT
(Special to The Hera

Washington, Jan. 31.—Secretary of State:

Your excellency was goough to transmit to the imperivernment a copy of the messhich the president of the Uniteces of America addressed to the e on the 22nd inst.

The imperial governmen given it the earnest considerwhich the president's statements e, inspired as they are, by desentiment of responsibility.

It is highly gratifying e imperial government to asc that the main tendencies of tportant statement correspondly to the desires and principlessed by Germany. The principecially include self-governmentquality of rights for all natic

Germany would be sir glad if, in recognition of thciple, countries like Ireland India, which do not enjoy theits of political independence, sbtain their freedom.

The German people aludiate all alliances which se force countries into competitimight and to involve them in a selfish intrigues.

On the other hand G will gladly co-operate in all eo prevent future wars.

Freedom of seas, beinminary condition of free existenations and peaceful intercotween them as well as an operior the commerce of all nationalways formed part of the leadnciples of Germany's political p.

All the more the imovernment regrets that the s of her enemies, who are so enpposed to peace, makes it impfor the world at present to brina realization of these loftly

Germany and her alls ready to enter now into discussion of peace, and had set down as a basis, guaranty of existence, of honor and free development of their peoples. Their aims, as has been expressly stated in the note of December 12, 1916, were not directed towards destruction or annihilitation of their enemies and were, according to their conviction, perfectly compatible with the rights of other nations.

As to Belgium, for which such warm and cordial sympathy is felt in the United States, the chancellor had declared, only few weeks previously, that its annexation had never formed part of Germany's intentions. The peace to be signed with Belgium was to provide for such conditions in that country, with which Germany desires to maintain friendly neighborly relations, that Belgium should not be used again by Germany's enemies for the purpose of instigating continuous hostile intrigues.

Such precautionary measures are all the more necessary, as Germany's enemies have repeatedly stated, not only in speeches delivered by their leading men, but also in statues of economical conference in Paris, that it is their intention not to treat Germany as an equal, even after peace has been restored, but to continue their hostile attitude and especially to wage systematic economical war against her.

Attempts of four allied powers to bring about peace has failed, owing to the lust of conquest of their enemies, who desired to dictate conditions of peace. Under pretense of following principles of nationality, our enemies have disclosed their real aims in this war, viz: to dismember and dishonor Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria.

To our wish for reconcilliation they

PEACE AND MEANS OF PRESERVING HAVE ALL GONE GLIMMERING

Washington, Jan. 31.—Germany's unrestricted submarine campaign, as announced here, is regarded as a starvation blockade of England, the like of which has never been seen, and the beginning of a long campaign of ruthlessness on a scale never yet conceived by on Tirpitz.

Again the United States faces the severance of diplomatic relations with Germany, whose action is regarded as the super-crisis of all those which have stirred the United States.

Talk of peace in Europe and means of preserving peace of the world have gone glimmering.

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing refused to comment on the situation tonight, but among the possibilities are a solemn warning to Germany against the violation of her pledges, or the decision that the German note warrants the severance of diplomatic relations, or the decision to await the development of actual operations.

After careful study of the note, the president went to bed at 11 o'clock, thus apparently disposing of the suggestions that he might take action before morning.

He had seen no callers, but it is understood he used the telephone freely, but as far as learned, no plans were laid by him to go to congress, as he did when announcing the sending of the Sussex note threatening to sever relations.

Meanwhile, the president's repeated warnings of a "world afire" and Secretary Lansing's "verge of war" statement were recalled at the capital with feelings of apprehension and misgiving.

On almost every side Germany's drastic action is interpreted as an open confession of the effectiveness of the British food blockade and the determination to strike back in kind.

Germany counts on the operations of an unheard number of submarines to subdue England within sixty days, as it has been estimated that the British food supply is not sufficient to last a month.

An annex to the note warns American citizens and vessels from the barred zones, which extend around Great Britain, France, Italy and in the eastern Mediterranean.

ATTACKS AND REPULSES ARE ORDER OF DAY

Battles On All Fronts Merely Consist of Artillery Duels and Raids

Associated Press, Jan. 31.—Except for battles of some importance in northwest Russia and Bukowina, operations in all zones continued mainly to consist of artillery fighting and small raids.

The Germans stormed Russian positions southwest of Riga, repulsing Russian counter attacks, capturing 900 hundred prisoners.

In Bukowina the Russians penetrated Teutonic positions and captured prisoners.

The Teutons repulsed a Russian offenisve along the Danube in Rumania.

THINK THEY HAVE A NOTED PICKPOCKET

In the arrest of Leroy Hart, alias Weston, the local police believed they have a very important person in custody. The man was arrested by Plainclothesmen J. W. Bishop and W. B. Curry, after a hurry call was erceived form the Grand Hotel, near the Florida East Coast railway depot, about three o'clock yesterday morning.

Suspecting him of being a pickpocket, Weston's room mate set a trap for him, and placed some marked bills in his pockets. When the money was missed, the police were communicated with and after a search of Weston's undergarments, a marked $1 bill was found. He was turned over to the county authorities and will be given a preliminary hearing before County Judge Barco.

ARE PREPARED TO MEET THE UNDERSEA WAR

Entente Allies Anticipated Submarine Campaign and Are Ready For It

New York, Jan. 31.—The entente allies are prepared to meet the German submarine campaign, it was authoritatively asserted in shipping circles here, and the ports of Liverpool and Bordeaux will be kept open at all nazards even if it is necessary to convoy every merchantman crossing the Atlantic.

The entente allies were expecting the German move, it was said, and the British have 4,000 vessels available to fight raiders and to convoy ships.

It is predicted the first move will be to arm merchantmen fore and aft for defense.

NEW MEXICO MAY GO DRY

Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 31.—The invaluable assistance given the prohibition movement by united effort of the temperance forces is shown in the effective work of the State Submission Federation of New Mexico.

As the name implies, this organization of the combined temperance strength of the state was formed to obtain the submission of a prohibition amendment to the state constitution this year.

Prohibition up to this point has made tremendous progress in New Mexico and the leaders appear confident that their efforts will be crowned with success.

The legislature now in session is expected to submit a strong amendment, as three-fourths of the members are individually pledged to statewide prohibition. In addition, all the principal officers of the state are pledged to the amendment, both by party platforms and public promises.

NEW YORK CHARITY BALL

New York, Jan. 31.—Notwithstanding the heavy demands made upon Father Knickerbocker's purse this winter by the innumerable bazaars and other functions for the relief of the war sufferers, the annual charity ball to be given tomorrow night at the Waldorf-Astoria promises to be a great success, financially as well as socially. For sixty years, without interruption, the charity ball has been the premier event of the season for New York society. The proceeds of the function will, as usual, be donated to the New York Nursery and Child's hospital.

FLORIDA EAST COAST CANAL CO. MUST RESTORE CANAL TO GOOD CONDITION AND DO IT AT ONCE

Supreme Court Issues Peremptory Writ Requiring Company To Get Busy

WAS ISSUED YESTERDAY

Requires Company To Give Canal Width and Depth Required By Law

(Special to The Herald.)

Tallahassee, Jan. 31.—The attorney general late yesterday instituted mandamus proceeding against the Florida East Coast line canal and transportation to compel that company to maintain its canal, leading from Jacksonville to Miami, and a writ of mandamus was issued this morning by the supreme court against the company.

The writ commands the Canal company to proceed forthwith to restore its canal to the width and depth required by law, and to maintain it in condition.

The suit was brought in the name of Thomas F. West, attorney general, in behalf of the state of Florida, and is regarded as of far reaching importance, since it is an exercise of power of state over public service corporations to require them to perform duties and services they owe to the public.

It is especially important to the people of the East Coast, as this canal was intended to provide protected inland waterway down the east coast, giving to the people of that section safe and inexpensive transportation.

The Canal company received from the state by legislative grants, more than a million acres of land, valued at from two to five dollars an acre, for the purpose of aiding in the construction of its canal, and the state is therefore interested in having it perform its duty and maintain the canal so that it may be used by the people and serve the purpose for which it was created.

It is charged in the writ issued that the company has neglected to maintain its canal at the width and depth required by law, and that it is evading and shirking obligations which it owes to the general public, and is thereby subjecting the public to great inconvenience and loss, depriving the people of transportation intended to be afforded by the canal and defeating, in a large measure, the intent of the state in aiding in the construction and maintenance of the canal.

By the writ issued in the case, this morning, the company is required to forthwith restore its canal to its original dimensions and thereafter to maintain it as the law requires.

ROAD EXPERTS TO DISCUSS THE ROAD PROBLEMS

Boston, Jan. 31.—Up-to-the-minute roads, modern streets, various materials and how different sorts are adapted to one locality or condition and not to another, road and street-building, demands of traffic, maintenance and plants are among the practical subjects which are to be discussed by authorities and experts at the seventh annual American good roads congress which is to meet in this city next week under the auspices of the American Road Builders' association.

An elaborate program of addresses and discussions will begin Monday and last through Friday. Leading United States government officials, state highway commissioners and engineers, prominent army engineers, officials of the American Automobile association and noted scientific men are among those who will speak.

$8,000 FOR SEMINOLES

WHERE HE GOT INFORMATION

Could Not Be Extracted From Broker In A Two and a Half Hour Grilling

New York, Jan. 31.—Francis A. Conolly, a Washington broker, and partner of R. W. Bolling, brother-in-law of President Wilson, who, on December 20, gave E. F. Hutton and Company, New York brokers, an accurate resume of the president's peace note ten hours before it was published, failed in a two and a half hour grilling examanation before the congressional committee, to name the exact source of his information.

He specifically exonerated Bolling, however, for all blame for the leak on the note.

HARD WORK TO GET JURY IN RICE CASE

Two Separate Venires Exhausted and Another Returnable Friday

The trial of Frank Rice, charged with the murder of Charles Williams, one of the members of the sheriff's posse who were killed at Everglade tank, on the early morning of September during the chase for the four Homestead bank bandits, did not progress very far in the circuit court yesterday, and a special venire of one hundred more names were drawn in the hope of securing the jury who will pass judgment on the case.

Up to 6 o'clock last night when court was adjourned, there were eleven jurymen in the box. The defense had nine and the state five challenges left and the indications are that all of these will be used before the jury box is finally filled.

The work of selecting the jury has been a tedious one, lasting for the past two days, during which time two separate venires have been exhausted. When adjourning court Judge Branning announced that the special panel selected last night would be returnable at 10 o'clock Friday morning when the case will be resumed.

The eleven men in the box at the time of the adjournment of court last night were: Charles Minneck, who was number three on the list; Charles E. Loop, who was the seventh man called to serve, while Charles H. Davis was the third. Davis was the tenth man to be questioned as to his qualifications as a juryman. T. E. Armstrong, a local real estate man, is juror No. 4 and his number was thirty-three on the list, while G. W. Oden, R. L. Foster and D. E. Blanton were placed in the box in arpid succession.

The next ment to occupy the box were J. M. Bercegeay, who was fifty-six on the list and J. W. Farrar, who was the fifty-seventh man to be questioned. The tenth juror was E. R. Holbrook who was No. 62 on the list, while C. W. Beauchamp was the sixty-eighth. It is possible that some of the above will be excused by either the defense or the state.

Several of the prospective jurymen were examined yesterday and were nearly all excused for cause, the attorneys for the state and defense reserving their challenges admirably.

Judge Branning and Sheirff Moran finished drawing the other one hundred names before leaving the courtroom last night and subpoenas were issued for these, and these were placed in the hands of deputy sheriffs who will have all day today to serve them.

The Rice case attracted much attention again yesterday and a large ber were in the court room watching the work of securing the jury. When it became apparent that the trial would not proceed yesterday many of teh witnesses for both the state and defense left the court room. Judge Branning announced last night that he would busy himself today in chambers.

PORT CLOSED IN NEW YORK

Collector Stopped All Traffic In and Out of Harbor, Last Night

New York, Jan. 31.—Collector of the Fort Malone tonight ordered that the port of New York be closed not only to steamers, but even to tugs, several of which were turned back.

Malone is vested with the sole responsibility for preserving the neutrality of this port. He did not explain his action.

CAPTAIN CANOVA HERE ON A VISIT

After an absence of two years from the city, Captain A. J. Canova, of Jacksonville, believes that he is in a real cosmopolitan city. Captain Canova arrived yesterday for a visit of several days for the purpose of seeing his son, George Canova, who is on board the yacht Nemeha.

Captain Canova is the inventor of an economic device for using kerosene for motors and he is introducing this in this section. These are made especially for all kinds of automobiles as well as motor boats and yachts and are considered remarkable.

In speaking of Miami last night, Captain Canova said that he did not know the city when he alighted from a Florida East Coast railroad train. The town that he left a few years ago has adopted genuine metropolitan airs, he said.

TO FURTHER RESTRICT CHILD LABOR

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 31.—A new law relating to compulsory education and child labor will come into operation in New York state tomorrow, with the result that it will be made more difficult for boys and girls to escape from their studies by seeking employment in factory or workshop. Under the new law all children under fifteen, who desire to work, must produce a graduation diploma from a public elementary school, private or parochial school of the same grade. Heretofore it has been required that a child need only finish the sixth grade in order to secure a certificate to work.

New York, Jan. 31.—For the second time within a period of 5 weeks the three-cushion carom billiard championship of the world is about to be battled for by two of the foremost exponents of the green-table sport. In a series of matches beginning tonight, at Doyle's academy, in this city, George W. Moore, the present champion, is to defend his title against Charles A. McCourt, of Cleveland. The contest will be 150 points, to be played in three sessions of 50 points each. Albert G. Cutler, the noted Boston professional, is to serve as referee. The contest is for $250 a side, a purse of $500, and the diamond trophy emblematic of the championship contest some time in April.

oppose with a will of destruction; they desire to fight to the bitter end.

A new situation has thus been created which forces Germany to new decisions. Since two years and a half, England has been using her naval power for a criminal attempt to force Germany into submission by starvation. In brutal contempt of international law, the group of powers led by England, does not only curtail legitimate trade of their opponents, but they also by ruthless pressure compel neutral countries, either altogether to forego every trade not agreeable to entente powers, but to limit it according to their arbitrary decrees.

The American government knows of steps which have been taken to cause England and her allies to return to ruts of international law and to respect freedom of the seas.

The English government however, insists upon continuing its war of starvation, which does not at all effect the military powers of its opponents, but compels women and children, sick and aged to suffer, for their country, pains and privations which endanger the vitality of nation.

Thus British tyranny mercilessly increases sufferings of the world indifferent to laws of humanity, indifferent to protests of the neutrals, whom they severely harm, indifferent even to silent longing for peace among England's own allies. Each day of terrible struggle causes new destruction, new sufferings. Each day shortening war will, on both sides, preserve the lives of thousands of brave soldiers and be a benefit to mankind.

The imperial government could not justify before its own conscience, before German people and before history the neglect of any means destined to bring about the end of the war. Like the president of the United States, the imperial government had hoped to reach this goal by negotiations. After attempts to come to an understanding with entente powers it has been answered by the latter with announcement of an intensified continuation of war. The imperial government in order to serve the welfare of mankind in a higher sense and not to wrong its own people, is compelled to continue the fight for existence again forced upon it, with full employment of all weapons which are at its disposal.

Sincerely trusting that people and government of the United States will understand the motives for this decision and its necessity, the imperial government hopes that the United States may view new situation from lofty heights of impartiality and assist on their part to prevent further misery and unavoidable sacrifice of human life.

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Crashes into sour bile, making you sick and you lose a day's work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

APPEAL TO BE TAKEN IN THE PETERS CASE

What will probably be one of the largest verdicts in damages in a case not arising from contract, was found by a Dade county jury on Tuesday, when in the circuit court it rendered a decision against the Florida East Coast Railway Company in a case where T. J. Peters sued on account of loss alleged to have been sustained by reason of the neglect of the defendant to furnish transportation for the shipment of a large tomato crops, crates and material.

The amount of damages sustained was ascertained by the jury at $63,513, and a verdict was rendered accordingly.

This was the second trial of the case, a jury in a former trial rendering a verdict in favor of the plaintiff of $30,000; from which judgment the defendant corporation appealed, the result of that appeal being to have the case sent back to the circuit court for retrial, with a verdict as stated above.

The case has attracted a great deal of attention during the several years it has been in litigation from the amount of damages originally claimed, it being known as the "Peters hundred thousand dollar damage case."

The plaintiff was represented by Carson and Pine, and H. F. Atkinson, while Shutts, Smith and Bowen, with Judge Armsted Brown, of Jacksonville, representing the defendant corporation.

Speaking of the case yesterday, Crate D. Bowen, of the firm of Shutts, Smith and Bowen, stated that an appeal would be taken to the supreme court of the state.

(This story should have appeared in yesterday's Herald, but owing to one of those inexplicable accidents that so frequently harass an editor in a busy newspaper office, it was inadvertantly omitted.)

It appears that Brooklyn is having more trouble in signing its players than any other major league club. A cut in salaries all along the line has caused the champion Robins to hesitate in the matter of signing contracts.

On his return north from Texas recently, Tris Speaker, champion batman of the American league, stopped off at Cincinnati to pay his respects to Hal Chase, the National league's champion slugger.

The American league broke all records for attendance last year, the circuit's turnstiles showing that 4,324,800 fans attended the games. Total attendance at the National league games for the season was 3,508,800.

Barney Reilly has the distinction of being the only Irish professional ski jumper in the world.

One of the most charmingly origi al entertainments that has been gi en in Miami for some time was th evening advertised to be spent wit Harrison Fisher by the big audien that last night filled the Womar Club auditorium for the program p on by St. Catherine's Guild of Trinf Episcopal church.

Mrs. Sproule-Baker played the ano solo that opened the evenings tertainment and there followed, wi in the big brilliantly lighted frame the stage a presentation of the happiest moments in a girl's life.

W. C. T. U. ACTIVITIES AT COCOANUT GROVE

The activities of the W. C. T. U. of Cocoanut Grove for the past week have been many and varied, concluding with the big joint meeting with the suffrage department last night.

On last Saturday the Minnie Neal Young People's branch made a trip to the beach in automobiles and held three delightful meetings there, during which they elected officers as follows: President, Miss Clara Hargitt, vice-president, Miss Bessie Pinder; treasurer, Miss Eleanor Walker; secretary, Miss Hilda Knowles. They also planned a reception to Miss Neal when she arrives in Miami.

On Monday a further meeting of the Young People's branch was held to plan the work of the departments.

Yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles DeGarmo, of Cocoanut Grove, the W. C. T. U. held a most interesting and very well attended meeting in which half of the time was given over to the discussion of suffrage.

Mrs. Sue . Moore presented a most excellent paper on the subject of the best methods for gaining the franchise. She discussed the questions of the national amendment and in all presented a very clear and illuminatin gidea of the work.

Dr. Ira Adams, of Miami, was another special speaker for the afternoon. He talked on the subject of how to satisfy the social instinct in man after the saloon has been taken away. Dr. Adams presented the subject in a very clear and sane manner advocating the use of well censored movies and the introduction of community and civic centres for social enjoyment as well as other municipal activities.

The next meeting of the Cocoanut Grove W. C. T. U. will be the annual one for the election of officers.

FLORIDA NATAL HAY ASSOCIATION

The Florida Natal Hay Association, as its name indicates, was organized for the purpose of growing hay in Florida on a large scale, through the expedient of co-operative farming; and to this the association has purchased a tract of land three miles square, and is now selling the same to high class investors in forty acre tracts, fully developed, in a high state of cultivation and seeded to Natal grass, with all the improvements, machinery and barns necessary to the handling of the crops, at a price of $75 per acre, or $3,000 per forty-acre tract.

Florida Imports Most of its Hay.

The business of growing hay in the state of Florida has come into prominence from the fact that the state is annually importing about 500,000 tons of hay. The price of this hay for the last fifteen or twenty years has ranged from $26 to $30 per ton.

Raising Natal Has is a Profitable Business.

Having been experimented with and tested for twenty years by the United States government and the experiment station of the state of Florida, it has been demonstrated to be a very fine quality of extra-nutritious hay; and the practical experience of growers during the past seven years has shown that it may be grown very profitably in this state. As a consequence of this Natal hay has received an enormous amount of publicity through the medium of the press. The Florida Grower, Tampa Tribune, Tampa Times, Jacksonville Times-Union and other papers of the state have published many articles showing the great profits that have accrued to the growers of Natal grass, until now it is a matter of common knowledge that to grow Natal hay is a profitable and lucrative business.

Florida Has a Protective Tariff on Natal Hay.

We have not only a market at home for $10,000,000 worth of hay, but if we only assume a basic price of $20 per ton for our Natal we have absolutely eliminated the economic possibility of shipping hay into Florida to be sold in competition with hay grown in this state.

The states now shippnig into Florida are Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Kansas; and to ship from these states costs about $12 a ton in freight alone. Consequently the northern farmer has to pay what amounts to a protective tariff of $12 per ton to get his hay into our markets to compete with Natal hay (a better hay and much more sought for than timothy.)

Florida a Monopolized Market for Natal Hay.

If Natal hay is sold in Florida as low as $20 per ton the northern farmer would have to sell his hay f. o. b. his farm in Ohio or Illinois at $8 per ton. Any farmer will tell you that it costs at least $3.50 per ton to cut, cure and bale hay. This would leave the northern farmer at the most $4.50 for his hay, out of which he must cover the expense of loading on board cars, the expense of seed, the cultivation of the land, taxes, interest on the money invested in land, and to annually put back into the soil what the timothy has taken out of it,—to say nothing of pay for the year's labor or profit on the crop grown for the Florida trade. The further you investigate the more you are convinced that the freight rate and expense of raising, harvesting and marketing hay by the northern farmer, placed within the actual cost, make it practically an economic impossibility to ship hay into Florida to compete with a Florida-grown product at $20 or less per ton.

Additional Markets.

No hay is shipped into Florida from Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, or even Tennessee. These states are themselves large importers of hay, and depend largely upon the states mentioned in a preceding paragraph for their hay. They offer an excellent market for Florida to supply at a much more economical price.

Location and Quality of Our Land.

We selected such land for the culture of Natal hay as is recommended both by the United States agricultural department and the Florida State Agricultural College,—namely, well-drained, high, rolling, pine land. This land is located in Hernando county, Florida, four miles west of Brooksville. The Tampa & Northern railroad runs directly through our tract and has located two shipping stations upon our land.

The United States Department of Agriculture on Natal Hay.

The United States government, in its official bulletins of 1915 and 1916 on the subject of Southern Forage Crops, states that after twenty years' experience with Natal hay in Florida they can say that under ordinary conditions Natal hay will yield an average of one ton per cutting and can be cut four times a year, and under very favorable circumstances as many as five times per year. These bulletins are issued not with a view of advancing any company's financial interests, but for the purpose of disseminating the best information obtainable to improve the agricultural interests of every state in the union. Extracts from the most recent bulletin are attached to this communication.

The actual experience of farmers in the state of Florida have proven these statements to be correct; but in order to be reasonably certain that we will be able to realize our expectancy, we are only calculating on a yield of two tons per acre per year; and after allowing $5 per ton for expense and arbitrarily reducing the price of hay to $20 per ton, it will leave the investor a net income of $15 per ton, or $30 per acre net profit on the purchase price of $75 per acre, which includes the cost of the land and the entire cultivation thereof, expense of maintenance and cost of harvesting and marketing the first year's crop. As a matter of fact, we now have in our office applications for our production, ranging from one to twenty-five carloads per week at $24 per ton.

Not a Speculation.

The purchaser of a forty-acre tract gets a warranty deed to his land, which he holds in his own name separate and apart from any other owner; in addition he receives a profit sharing certificate in the Florida Natal Hay Association, which shows that he is entitled to an equal vote in the management of the association which operates this land, for the benefit of the purchaser thereof at cost. Our charter provides that nothing but the actual cost can be charged to any purchaser of land, whether in the developing or future operation of same; thus making it an investment that you own and control yourself, with expert and competent management to operate for you. This is not a speculation. No one would have to argue with you the realiability of an investment in staple crops or the prime necessity of life. From time immemorial hay has been a necessity, and so long as the human family continues to use butter, milk and beef, so long will we have to have hay.

Some Testimony Regarding Natal Hay, Its Value and Marketability.

Hon. D. C. Gillett, of the Buckeye nurseries, writing from Tampa under date of September 25, 1916, to Hon. H. J. Drane, president of the Florida Natal Hay Association, says:

"I note in the press where you are about to plant a 5,000 acre Natal hay farm in the vicinity of Brooksville. .... At the nursery we have been feeding Natal hay all this summer, and our mules will turn down the finest timothy for it. .... I suppose our requirements this year will run around 75 tons. I am under the impression that we are paying $22 per ton f. o. b. cars at Kathleen."

BIRTH CONTROL "MARTYR" NOW ON A HUNGER STRIKE

MRS. ETHEL BYRNE

Mrs. Ethel Byrne is now carrying on a hunger strike in Blackwells Island penitentiary, New York City, after her conviction in a Brooklyn court for disseminating birth control information. She is a sister of Mrs. Margaret Sanger, who has also been in trouble for the same offense. The two established in a Jewish section of Brooklyn what they called a "birth control clinic," and their arrest followed. Mrs. Byrne was convicted.

FOUR HOMES A DAY

It was not so long ago that Miami was congratulating herself that she was building one home a day for every working day of the year. Last year we boasted, somewhat, when the figures at the end of the year showed that we had built three dwellings for every day.

The month ending yesterday, the first month of the year shows that there were ninety eight permits issued for the construction of dwellings, an average of about four homes every working day.

Building permits, including all classes of buildings and repairs, numbered one hundred and eight for January, with a total value of $130,810.

It is to be noticed that the costliest dwelling started during the month was valued at forty five hundred dollars, indicating that the buildings under construction are all for homes for people who reside permanently in Miami.

Four new homes are being erected every day in this city, and the year has but begun, and moreover, this is a time when construction is at the lowest ebb.

All this means that Miami is increasing in the ratio of her growth, and as was said by a visitor, instead of there ever being a danger that the city will over build it will be a long time before the legitimate and insistent demand for homes can possibly be satisfied.

PROTECTION FOR MIAMI

A winter resident makes a suggestion which should receive the earnest consideration of all thoughtful Miamians.

It is difficult for the average American to believe that there is the slightest danger to this country from controversies with any other. We have been at peace so long with all mankind that we have grown to believe that there will never again be any necessity for our protecting ourselves either from invasion or from damage by war.

We all thought that of the world, three years ago, but the sudden and inexplicable events occuring on the European continent have rather shattered our ideas on the subject of peace. We are beginning to realize that war is a terrible reality and that when it comes, there is only one way to meet it and that is by defenses and force.

Although Captain Mahan, during his life time an acknowledged naval expert, wrote of the necessity of fortifying this part of the state of Florida and explained the strategic value of a naval rendezvous in Biscayne Bay, very little attention was ever paid to his suggestion, for none of us then believed that this country would ever again experience war, and it was absurd, the country thought, to fortify places so far out of the way as is Miami, or was thought to be then, and the idea was passed over as so many valuable suggestions for the safety of the country have been ignored, to our very great cost.

The visitor alluded to, calls attention to the strategic importance of Miami and the necessity for fortifications to guard, as much as possible, this growing and important city. It is not necessary to point out that when he says the most ordinary enemy vessel could destroy Miami within a very few minutes, with out the slightest danger to itself, he is eminently correct, and we know of some of the sudden surprises that have been executed during the present war.

If Pensacola, Mobile, Charleston and Tampa demand and receive protection, it is evident that this city should also demand that arrangements be made for safeguarding Miami in time of trouble.

The matter should be laid before the proper authorities as soon as possible, and Miami should request that proper fortifications be planned and erected on the islands and keys opposite the city, and that they be made permanent garrisons for small bodies of troops to man the guns that should be installed there.

It will take time to convince the government of the necessities of the case, and the movement to secure protection should start now.

Billy Sunday is not celebrated for moderation of statement, but when he says that, in a world without newspapers, "Hell would break loose in forty-eight hours," he shows real conservatism in forecast. The figure could be reduced to thirty-six.—Editor and Publisher.

While Europeans are digging trenches in the snow to fight for their lives, people at Miami beaches dig trenches in the sand to enjoy the sun. As a mere matter of comfort there is something to be said for the Miami way of doing things.

Advices from Washington are that the illness of Congressman Sears is not at all serious, merely a case of grippe, his secretary wires, and the congressman will be up and about by tomorrow. Joe is altogether too young and vigorous to be down and out with nervous prostration, at this stage of the game.

Speaking of the preparedness plans, if J. Ogden Armour would locate one of the Armour plants in Miami, that is about all we would ask, except an enlarged postoffice and a few other things.

STILL A BAD MESS

It is rather a singular thing that the principal subject of controversy, now, between this country and the Carranza government is not the patroling of the border, not the protection of American lives in Mexico, but a movement on the part of Mexico to control, in its own way, the property of foreigners.

There is being held at Quaretaro a convention that is devoting its time to the framing of a new constitution for Mexico. Among the many proposed provisions is one that would give the government great powers over the property of foreigners, one that would restrict the activities of foreign corporations to a marked degree.

It must be remembered that one of the contentions of the present Mexican government is that Mexico has been exploited by foreign corporations and landowner to the destruction of Mexican prosperity, and the present revolution had as its basis, largely, the desire to overturn that corporation and monopolistic control.

It is proposed to do this through a constitutional provision which is to be adopted by authority, and made the basic law of the land. It would really look as though a free people, one having all the sovereign rights of other peoples should be at liberty to settle their internal affairs without interference from the outside.

We have said as much. We have refrained from interfering when revolutionists murdered our own people on Mexican soil, when they destroyed property belonging to American citizens, and we have utterly refused to hear or relieve those Americans when they have submitted their justified complaints. We refused to carry out our demands that a former president salute the American flag, and we have retired from Mexico without securing Villa either dead or alive.

But now that corporation interests are threatened, in a law which it would seem the Mexicans have an undoubted right to adopt if they want to, we are sending an ambassador to interfere as far as possible and secure a modification of the proposed law.

In all probability, the new ambassador will be told with exquisite Mexican courtesy that it is really none of Uncle Sam's business as to what kind of a constitution the Mexicans adopt, and they will probably tell him in polite language to keep his nose out of their private business.

Which, after all, would be about what we deserve when we think of the way we have incontinently fled whenever Carranza has insisted on having his way, which he has always secured in spite of all our accute diplomats.

The Mexican affair is still a bad mess and a big muddle.

ONLY THE OVERT ACT LACKING

While German newspapers spoke of President Wilson's world peace note in terms of praise, the German government's answer is to announce that it proposes to conduct an unrestrained warfare on the sea. That is, that it does not propose to show discrimination in sinking vessels and that it proposes to hold that any armed merchantman belonging to enemy powers, is subject to the same methods as are to be used against other war vessels.

This country has always held to the right of merchantmen to carry arms, and that has been international law until this war began. Germany, in spite of the treaties she has signed acknowledging the principle, repudiates the law and declares war against mankind.

In addition to this announcement, there will probably come a statement from the same government warning all Americans who travel on merchantmen belonging to the entente powers, which may be armed in accordance with the law, that they do so at the peril of their lives, because Germany proposes to sink as many of them as she can reach.

The two declarations bring affairs to a crisis, and we enter once again into the shadow of war, by no act of our own.

If Germany persists in her latest announced determination, if a German raider or submarine sinks a vessel upon which an American citizen is a passenger or an employe, the question will come squarely up to this country to make good its position that, despite the war, the seas must be open to American travel on legitimate errands.

We now can only await the overt act.

WE ALL BREAK IT

It would be rather interesting to ascertain just how many times a day the law is violated by thoughtless people, in Miami.

Not counting the usual petty crimes of disorderly conduct, drunkenness and the like cases that get into the municipal court, and the other crimes that at are dealt with in the county courts, it would be interesting to know how many people, who would be intensely surprised if they were told that they had broken a law, there are in the city.

For instance there is a law that states that no person shall cross certain streets except at the regular street intersections. It may be ventured that more than a thousand people cross Twelfth street at will, every day, and thus violate the ordinance.

Despite the rule against riding bicycles on the sidewalks, the law is broken by fairly good people, hundreds of times a day.

Contrary to the state law, parents permit their children to operate automobiles, while still under the age when the law says they may do so lawfully.

Hundreds of men are profane on the streets and in public, other hundreds spit on the sidewalks, still others block the sidewalks at busy hours of the day, and so the tale goes on until it would appear that there is not a law abiding persons within the corporate limits of the city, no not one.

It is rather a pity that that project for re-naming certain Miami streets has been lost in the shuffle of so many other pressing things to do for the city. Winter visitors complain of the present mixed condition of affairs and even some Miamians have been heard to complain.

The Houston Post encourages northern people by saying it has had its first mess of dandelion greens of the season. Miami has had its strawberries and watermelons every since this time last year, which ought to be more encouragement for the shivering north.

With low temperatures in the north, it is well to remember that there are probably a thousand children in Miami who don't know what they are talking about when zero weather is being discussed.

OBSERVATIONS

According to Dixie, Jacksonville's carnival is a carnival of crime.

Well, Great Scott! They did find a leak, after all.

Yes, Prunella, there will still be a demand for kings after the war. Players will be just as anxious to fill their hands as ever they were.

We can still show visitors what looks like ruins at the place where Twelfth street ought to cross the Miami river, and perhaps they don't miss Europe so very much, after all.

It's about time to send Col. House to Europe, again.

MAKING THE BEST OF IT

Minneapoiis Journal

Blessed is the man who during this superfluity of frost can trade a splinter of Minnesota for a feather of Florida by the mere payment of a cash premium. Blessed is he, and joy attend him on his retreat! But more blessed is the man who has learned to subdue the frost bogie and harness it to his joy sled. Surely this man has the retreater outstripped in the race for physical pleasure.

Few of us ever reach the Florida class. Now and forever most Minnesotans will winter in Minnesota. This being true, let us enjoy it. Winter is hostile only to those who fear. It is monotonous only to the dull of eye and heart. The bright and the bold are boon companions with winter in its outdoor entertainments.

Inasmuch as winter comes every year, it is the part of wisdom to learn to joy in it, and not to run from it or shiver at it. Every child physically fit to attend school should be fitted out with shoe-packs, mittens and mackinaws, and taught to ski and snowshoe, to wallow in cheerful drifts, to make cross-country hikes, to hunt for the telltale trails of winter birds and small beasts, to study the rich lore of the frozen world, and learn to be on friendly terms with frost.

The whole public system could well afford to close its doors snowy Friday afternoons and turn its population lose to forage in the fields under competent captains. Cultivate the winter carnival. Thus redder blood will flow in the veins of our northern folk, less distress will attend the ushering in of winter, and the enfeebling yearnings for Florida will fade away forever. Winter defied brings pleasures that are unknown to summer solicited.

He is a native of Iowa, and was educated at Washington Academy and Western College.

He was inclined to mechanical interests rather than to scolastic pursuits, however, and became a railroad brakeman as soon as his student days were over.

WITNESS GIVES COURT THRILL

Atlanta.—Mrs. W. H. Felton, of Cartersville, well-known writer and lecturer, was the central figure in the trial of the Daves' will case for a short time Friday morning. She was on the stand as a witness for the Venable plaintiffs, and because of her sharp and witty repartee and her back talk with lawyers, the judge and jury she came near breaking up the court. As it was, Judge Pendleton found it quite difficult to keep order.

At one point in her testimony, while she was making some comment of her own, Attorney Ben Conyers, of counsel for Dr. Joel T. Daves, who is seeking to break the will of his wife, objected to the line of her testimony on the ground that it was irrelevant and not admissible.

Quick as a flash Mrs. Felton, pointing her finger at Mr. Conyers, said: "Sit down, Ben Conyers; I have known you since you were a little boy; I have held you on my knee and have spanked you."

Several times she addressed the judge and jury and several times she directed her remarks to the lawyers.

"I read in the paper the other day," said Mrs. Felton, "that some woman testifying in this case had stated that Mrs. Daves, who was then Mrs. Collins, had gone out to catch Dr. Daves. I want to say right here and now that Dr. Daves ran after her just as much as she ever ran after him."

Mrs. Felton said Mrs. Daves had asked her advice about marrying Dr. Daves and said she had advised against it.

"When Dr. Daves put on his silk hat, with his little mustache underneath, he looked like a Russian count," Mrs. Felton exclaimed, to the astonishment of the courtroom.

"My friend fell in love with the paraphernalia of the presiding elder, and she thought that some day she would be the wife of a bishop.

"Every time he put on that shiny silk hat Mrs. Daves fell more and more in love with him," Mrs. Felton ended.

WHAT MAKES THE WHEELS GO AROUND?

This, and Other Things, Explained On Screen At the Hippodrome Friday

Picture yourself standing inside a huge automobile motor; imagine yourself gazing at close range upon the mysterious "whys" and "wherefores" of what makes the wheels go 'round in that small but formidable space underneath the hood of the car you drive.

This is one of the effects obtained by Gilman M. Flint, of the Society of Automobile engineers, in his motion picture talk on the Knight sleeve valve motor, to be given Friday afternoon and evening at the Hippodrome theatre. Without the aid of the motion picture, according to J. T. Weathers, under whose auspices the discussion is to be held, it would be extremely difficult for Mr. Flint to bring out clearly and concisely many of the points concerning the Knight motor that are vital to its construction and therefore interesting to the audience. The pictures produced under the personal supervision of Mr. Flint are declared to be the finest scientific and educational films ever released.

"In his lecture, with the aid of the motion pictures, Mr. Flint shows the wide opening and positive closing of the sleeve valve, which makes the Knight different from motors of all other types."

FIRE LOSSES FOR JANUARY

Were Kept Down To Minimum, Twenty Dollars Covering Loss For Month

The fire losses for the month of January were reduced to the lowest possible minimum, according to the records kept by Chief Chase. There were sixteen alarms during the month and this number included several brush fires, none of which caused any damage, although several of them were threatening.

According to the records, the damage amounted to but $20 to property in the city, which does not include a fire in a Pullman car lying in the Florida East Coast railway yards.

Seven of teh fires are of unknown origin, while the most of the conflagrations were caused by sparks from some cause, the principal of which was from the burning of rubbish. There was but one false alarm during the entire month and one suspicious blaze. Another fire was caused by the upsetting of a lantern which caused the greatest loss.

THRIFT DAY A TIME FOR NEW HABITS

Occasion, Next Saturday, Will Be Observed Appropriately In Miami

(By W. J. Peck)

Saturday, February 3, has been named as "Thrift Day" by the bankers of our country. The memo, you are to make on your calendar is this:

"Get Another Thrift Habit."

A lot of good thrift preaching has been done by the bankers and other interested citizens in the last two years. Now it is time to act; time to "hit the trail."

Thrift day should mean something concrete for Jones, Mrs. Jones, and all the Jones children. Down at the store, or in the office, Jones can spare a minute to figure out a way to translate his impulse to save into a definite setting aside of a part of his week's pay or profits for deposit in the bank. Very positively, Jones can resolve to make that bank deposit the nucleus of a fund which later will become an investment fund.

Another thing Jones can do on Thrift day, organize among his fellows at the store or in the office some sort of co-operative Thrift club. It is easier to save when all of those about you are also saving, just as it's easy to spend when the gang is getting free with the coin.

To Mrs. Jones, Thrift day can be made to mean something concrete also. Not one Mrs. Jones out of ten who read this knows, practically what it means to run a home on the budget plan. It is really an interesting plan well worth knowing about.

Let Mrs. Jones resolve to adopt the budget plan on Thrift day; figure her income for the next four weeks, and then sit down to decide definitely how she shall spend every cent of it. Probably she won't be able to stick to her budget appropriation, but she will try, and trying is the beginning of Thrift wisdom.

What can Thrift day be made to mean to Johnny and Billy and Helen and Annie and Margery and baby? Inside the family occurs the most effcetive teaching the kids will get. While children are young and easily impressed, habits of waste, or of prudence are fixed. So, on Thrift day, let each one of the Jones flock show some coin either earned or saved, anything from a cent to a dime.

If Thrift day could bring to everybody a sensible definition of Thrift, what a day it would be! Can you frame one better than this:

"Thrift is moderate saving and sensible investment."

INDIVIDUAL THRIFT TO BE DEVELOPED "THRIFT DAY" FEB. 3

Philadelphia Public Ledger: All over the United States Feb. 3 has been designated as Thrift Day. How many people in this vast land of ours have given a thought to this one word—Thrift? How many have been putting it into effect and how incomparable are the numbers that have given it so little attention and consideration? Among the few that have been thrifty and prosperous are men who are interested in your welfare—in the good of the people. They see the negligence of the great majority, the waste of time and money that is foolishly spent. This day was inaugurated by those to set up new inspiration, to give you new ideas in which to mee tthe demands of nature easier, to teach you to save and economize.

Are you among the few that have been saving? Are you laying aside each day, week or month a certain amount for future needs? Don't you realize the importance and necessity of being prepared? Now is the time to start. Do not put it off another day. A few nickels, dimes or dollars saved and properly placed in a way that will net you a small saving each year and by adding to and compounding each succeeding year will place you in a position that when you will have reached that ripe old age to declare yourself independent.

Don't led "Old Man Time" creep upon you. Don't let old age catch you still struggling along in the same old rut that you have trod so long. Get out and get busy, be thrifty and get int othe upper class, where you can hold your head among the foremost. Economize in your daily living by eliminating the leakage and waste. Look to the future. Think of what you could have done if you had taken advantage of the time and opportunities that have gone by. It isn't too late, but the opportune time is right now. Not a minute longer can you afford to throw away—not a penny can you afford to let out without doing yourself an injustice.

Consult those who know and make a solemn resolution to start on Thrift Day, Feb. 3.

Twelve-hour, twenty-four-hour and ship time can be told simultaneously by a new clock dial.

JANUARY ARRESTS 492.

The police were busy with arrests during January which closed yesterday. The list of arrests totalled 492 up to last evening, but sevearl more were added to this number before midnight. Sergeant Lindstrom had not figured up the total amount of the fines during the month yesterday, but he will attend to it today.

REFORM SCHOOL FOR NEGRO BOY

Judge Blanton Sends Raymond Reynolds Off To State Institution

Seven-year-old Raymond Reynolds, a little negro boy, who has given the police and sheriff's office any amount of trouble during the past few months was ordered sent to the reform school by County Judge Sam Barco yesterday, much to the sorrow of the boy's mother who wept for more than half an hour during the preliminary hearing, yesterday afternoon.

When Judge Barco heard the long list of acts of the boy which ended with the stealing of a horse and wagon, he readily announced his decision.

The boy also endeavored to get another boy, Leon Sears, involved with him, but he was discharged. Prisoners in the county jail heard the Reynolds boy admit that he only wanted the other boy held in order that he would have company on the way to the reform school.

The case of Horace Goss, a white boy, who was arrested for several alleged acts o ftheft, was postponed until today.

NEW WATERWAY TO LAKE OKEECHOBEE BE FAVORITE ROUTE

Step by step, the great central portion of this wonderful state, is being opened up to the tourist investor, and farmer, as a result of improved transportation, and one of the most important links in the chain of transportation is the new Palm Beach canal, from Palm Beach to Lake Okeechobee. This canal promises to be a very favorite waterway for the yachtsman who can go in a few hours from Palm Beach to the magnificent lake region where he may hunt or fish to his heart's desire. What a wonderful opportunity for the tourist to be able to leave the east coast in his own ship, and pass up the canal, and enter the happy hunting ground of the interior, and what for? Almost every kind of fresh water fish that one can think of, bass, speckled perch, blue brim, channel cat, or should he perfer the gun, there are to be had in unlimited numbers coot, duck, coon, deer or wild turkey. Parties are arriving every day at Moore Haven, the headquarters for the hunting parties, where they have perfect hotel accommodations, and all the conveniences of city life, and yet in the heart of the finest hunting and fishing country to be found in the entire south country.

To those who have settled at Moore Haven it is a matter of importance and particular interest that they are in a country where such little effort on their part will bring such prolific results, and where they can go out for a day's sport and enjoy a life worth while, in a country where the sun shines every day and where a man can make money, and lots of it, and enjoy real sport at his pleasure. Can one htink of anything better? And to think that it is so near at hand ,up on Lake Okeechobee, at Moore Haven, the new metropolis of the lake country, Moore Haven, the wonder city.

MOTOR BOAT RACES FEBRUARY 15, 16 AND 17

In a story of the coming motor boat regatta published in the Sunday issue of The Herald, the statement was inadvertibly made that the races would be held o nthe 18, 19 and 20th of February, instead of on the 15, 16 and 17th of February. The former dates were originally named in all literature sent out by the regatta committee, but since then it was deemed inadvisable to have the races in January and they were accordingly deferred until February.

B. L. PLUMBLEY HAS GAINED 30 POUNDS

"Most Everybody in Our Community Is Taking Tanlac Since Seeing the Good It Did Me and My Wife," Says Dairyman.

"Yes, sir, it's a fact, I have gained every bit of thirty pounds and I feel like a new man since I started taking this Tanlac," said B. L. Plumbley, the well-known dairyman at Hixon's Station, Chattanooga, Tenn., while talking to one of the clerks at the Live and Let Live Drug Store," a few days ago.

"I have suffered with stomach trouble for the past two years," continued Mr. Plumbley, "and I'd have the worst headaches you ever heard of. At times I'd get so dizzy I couldn't stand up and couldn't see anything but black spots in front of my eyes. I didn't have any appetite at all and I couldn't sleep at night and I was restless all the time.

"Tanlac not only helped me, but it did my wife worlds of good; she had sick-dizzy headaches all the time and would vomit up her meals. Her stomach was out of order and her food would sour and gas would form and she just suffered all the time. She was weak and run-down and when she began taking Tanlac she began to come right along. She took four bottles of the medicine and I wish you could see her now, you'd never think she'd been sick a day in her life. She has gained in strength and weight, and I never hear her complain any more. The sick headaches have left her and her stomach don't bother her at all. She never vomits any more and she can eat anything she wants and it don't hurt her one bit. She sleeps like a child now and she's in better health than she has been in in many a day.

"Look at me, you'd never think I weighed as little as a hundred and twenty-two pounds, would you? Well I did, but now I'm just as stout as I can be and I can't remember when I felt as good as I do now. My stomach is in just as good shape as it ever was, and I haven't a pain or ache about me anywhere. I don't know what it is to vomit now, and I haven't had a headache since I started on the medicine. I feel as strong as a mule and I can attend to my work better than I have in a long time. When I get up in the morning now I eat a hearty breakfast and go about my work like I had never been sick at all.

"I'm in good shape in every way and my wife and myself have got the neighbors talking about the way we have come out and I think just about everybody in the community is taking the medicine since they have seen what it has done for us."

The public is warned against buying Tanlac from any dealer excepting duly authorized agents. Genuine Tanlac is sold in Miami exclusively by Miami Drug Co.; in Ft. Lauderdale by Beck's Home Drug Store; in Homestead by Homestead Pharmacy; in Goulds by W. H. Cauley; in Princeton by Drake Lumber Co.; and in Silver Palm, R. F. D. Princeton, by Wm. Anderson.

FORTIFY THE HARBOR NOW IS ADVISED

Engineer J. N. Hazelhurst Makes Suggestion For Protection In Case of War

NEED FORTIFICATIONS

And Movement Cannot Begin Aggressively Too Early With the War Department

Miami should start at once a movement to secure federal aid in fortifying this harbor, was the opinion expressed by J. N. Hazlehurst, a partyear resident of this city and also of Atlanta.

Mr. Hazlehurst is residing on his farm north of the city. He returned recently from Chattanooga, Tenn., where, it will be remembered by Herald readers, he was appraiser for the city in the movement for municipal ownership of its plant, having been summoned to that duty while he was in Miami.

Florida is not a new proposition to Mr. Hazlehurst, for in 1898 he was chief engineer for the city of Tampa, and later filled the same position with the city of Mobile.

And it so happens in the history of events that both in Tampa and Mobile the government placed necessary fortifications while Mr. Hazlehurst held the two respective positions referred to.

So a statement from him that it is important that Miami should get busy at once for harbor defense is important.

The Miami Claims.

"There is more reason for Miami having harbor improvements than for either Tampa or Mobile," said Mr. Hazlehurst, "because Miami is so close to the ocean deep water, and hostile ships could approach to within close range and destroy the city in a very short time; while the other two cities are thirty miles away from the ocean deep water and are not nearly so easily approached.

"Beside this, Miami is a city now that has a right to whatever protection the government can give it, and the city has the right to make a vigorous demand that something be done immediately.

"It has occurred to me," Mr. Hazlehurst continued, "that the fortifications could well be across the bay, possibly backed up by others on the mainland, and these would call for such batteries as would be necessary to take care of them—two companies, at least, I should think.

"In these days, wars are commenced in a day. It was so with the European war. It might be so with America. We may never have a war at all, but if we do, some of us would feel safer with good strong defenses such as I have referred to."

How to Go At It.

Mr. Hazlehurst suggested that the subject is one for the Chamber of Commerce to start and follow up vigorously—"for," said he, "after you start it, and get favorable action, it might take a year or two to place all the guns as they would be wanted. Delays might prove costly, while promptness might be a valuable investment. We don't want anybody's cannon shooting up Miami, especially unless we have an opportunity to shoot back."

Asked as to the best method of procedure, Mr. Hazlehurst said that General Black, chief of engineers of the United States army, is a close friend of the south and knows conditions here. General Black spent his earlier days in St. Augustine, and would no doubt do everything consistent within his power to assist in the enterprise.

MAY BE MUCH COLDER BY TONIGHT

A supplementary weather bureau erport late last night told of the most severe cold wave of the year, which is now sweeping eastward over the entire country, and is expected to strike Florida within a few hours.

Much colder weather is predicted for Miami Thursday night, and freezing weather is expected as far south as central Florida by Friday night.

The thermometer fell forty degrees at St. Louis yesterday and fifty degrees at Rapid City, S. D.

The Times That Stir Men's Souls

SYMPATHY, LOVE AND COMPASSION go out to our fellow-beings in distress. But have you ever had the subject brought very close to you? Have you ever seen the family facing unexpected misfortune, its earning power perhaps affected, and a burial lot in immediate demand?

If so, you will appreciate how much more satisfactory it is in every way to arrange for property of this kind while there is no immediate need. A family lot is an object of family pride—the members take an interest in its selection and beautification.

Come out and see this modern "perpetual care" cemetery. Our auto will take you. Descriptive matter on request.

Commodore Benedict, Owner, Makes This His Winter Headquarters Is Announced

ALCOYNE HELD OUTSIDE

Because Too Great Depth For the Channel—Fishing Records Yesterday

(By W. S. Thomas.)

Miami will be the winter headquarters of Commodore E. C. Benedict, whose handsome steam yacht, Oneida, was the first deep draft pleasure yacht to enter the new deep water channel. This much was intimated by friends of the wealthy yachtsman yesterday.

Commodore Benedict spent yesterday on the reef on board one of his boats with a party of friends and returned to the yacht Oneida, at the Terminal dock, late in the afternoon, with a handsome catch of fish.

The commodore is accompanied on the cruise by aparty of friends, among them being Mrs. Alfred Heyn and daughters, the Misses Florence, Marguerite and Frances Heyn, of Orange, N. J.; Mrs. L. T. Huntington and daughter, Miss Esther Huntington, of New Rochelle, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dimock, of Peekamose, N. Y.; Dr. C. F. Bingaman, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Justus Van Lengere, Jr., of Orange, N. J.

The Oneida will remain in Miami for an indefinite period and will remain here while not on cruises for the balance of the winter.

Henry W. Putnam, Jr., is on board his fine yacht, Alcyone, which has been lying at anchor off the government cut, but which will be unable to enter this port on account of the shallow water, as the Alcyone draws fifteen feet, according to the New York Yacht club register.

Mr. Putnam has been on shore a number of times since his arrival, and regrets the inability of his yacht reaching the Terminal dock. The Alcyone is 182 feet long, thirty-foot beam and draws fifteen feet of water.

Fishing off Ragged Key yesterday, Elmer E. Garretson, who was out with a party of friends on the charter boat Waho, landed a Spanish lobster, which is one of the rarest species of crustations, which will be mounted and will be sent to the Smithonian Institute at Washington. The lobster measures about eight inches in length and weighs about one and a half pounds. The peculiar specimen was placed on exhibition in the rotunda of the hotel Royal Palm last night and attracted much attention.

Fishing from the charter boat Corsair, Captain Scott, yesterday, A. B. Levy, of New York, caught a forty-two pound grouper and a large number of other fish.

R. T. Fishbourn was out on the charter boat Helena, Captain Manson, with a party of friends yesterday and brought in a large catch of grouper and mackerel.

W. A. Waltman, John A. Hennesey, of New York City; Elmer E. Garretson, of Huntington, L. I., and Henry Brown, of Riverhead, L. I., were out on board Captain Molter's boat, Waho, yesterday, and caught ten barracuda, six grouper, a mutton fish and a Spanish lobster.

Irwin M. Krohn, park commissioner of Cincinnati, while out fishing with a party of friends, on board Captain Crossett's boat, Angler, yesterday, caught one grouper that weighed 38 pounds and a number of other fish, including two large barracuda.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. White, of New York City, who are sojourning in the city for the season, were out on board Captain Ross' boat, Juliet, yesterday, and returned to the Royal Palm dock with a shark, four grouper and three barracuda.

The schooner Frances E., arrived in port from Nassau with a large number of passengers and a miscellaneous cargo yesterday.

The yacht Saramar, belonging to Sherman Loomis, arrived in port from Palm Beach yesterday afternoon.

C. S. Washburn, of Hudson, N. Y., caught twelve barracuda and a grouper while fishing from the Snapshot, Captain Green, yesterday.

The yacht Nepthis, arrived from Palm Beach yesterday. The Nephis is owned by Gurney Munn, of New York, who arrived on board the vessel.

The yacht Peggy, belonging to Peter Simms, of St. Paul, Minn., arrived from Palm Beach yesterday with Mr. Simms and a party of friends on board.

The yacht Corsair has been chartered for today by Edward S. George and a party of friends.

The yacht Nemo, Captain Riley, will go out from the Royal Palm dock today with C. P. Tietze, of Weehawken, N. J., and J. L. Walther, of Philadelphia.

Police Commissioner Arthur Woods, of New York City, will go out on the charter boat, Waho, Captain Moller, today.

The Snapshot, Captain Greene, has been chartered for today by Mr. and Mrs. John Bindley and party, from Pittsburgh.

SPORTING NOTES

Ora Morningstar, the crack billiard player, has been offered $4,000 a season to give exhibitions in a Detroit billiard room.

Next fall the Indiana university eleven will meet only three western conference teams, Minnesota, Ohio State and Purdue.

Boston amateur and semi-professional ball players will have tryouts of one hour each day at Braves' field next season.

Willie Hoppe is out with an announcement that he is willing to play any contestant for any balk-line title, if there is a $5,000 guarantee.

In an effort to walk one mile in competition with five women roller skaters, who covered two and a half miles in relays, Dan O'Leary, the veteran pedestrian, was defeated by a margin of five yards in Washington recently.

Billy Miske, the sensational St. Paul boxer, and the season's biggest hit in New York, has entered upon a much needed rest. According to present plans he will not be seen in the ring again until the latter part of February.

The threatened baseball strike evidently holds no terrors for Charley Comiskey, since he has practically the entire White Sox squad already signed up for the coming season.

"Kid" Henry, a 140-pound battler, hailing from Ogden, Utah, has arrived in Boston with a desire to show his wares before Hub fans in a bout with any boxer of his weight.

TRY IT AND SEE!

Lift your corns or calluses off with fingers! Doesn't hurt a bit!

A noted chemist discovered a new ether compound and called it freezone and it now can be had in tiny bottles as here shown for a few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone upon a tender corn or painful callus and instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can just lift it off with the fingers.

No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying freezone or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! Seems magical. It works like a charm. Genuine freezone has a yellow label. Don't accept any except with the yellow label.

Three of every four German nonogenarians are women.

DIXIE HIGHWAY TRACT

To those residing permanently in Miami and to tourists here for the season

J. A. Gates & Son, have a message.

We have formulated a plan whereby we can greatly reduce the price of real estate to purchasers, cause the business of real estate to be more highly respected, and to be more enjoyable and satisfactory to those engaged in the traffic.

We purpose to sell lots in a tract by employing hired salesmen just as a merchant sells goods in his store by clerks in his employ. Parties visiting our Dixie Highway Tract, now being offered, will be shown over the tract by our salesmen. A tag bearing the lot and block number and price of lot is attached to a stake placed in front of each lot, to be detached by purchaser and presented at office of tract owner, where papers in settlement will be drawn.

We can, we believe, by this method save purchaser 25 per cent or more and complete the transaction most expediciously and satisfactorily.

We especially call attention to location of our Dixie Highway Tract. It adjoins the Charles Deering place on the north and extends from Dixie Highway to Bay View Ave., overlooking the Bay. All inside lots are held at a uniform price of $195 each, corners $300. If in this connection you note the fact that lots in Flander's tract which adjoins the Charles Deering place on the south are held at prices ranging from about $3,000 to $5,000, and are on lower land; you will readily see that lots in Dixie Highway will certainly appreciate rapidly in value with the growth of Miami and that you will make no mistake in buying now. Is it unreasonable to expect an advance of one hundred per cent in values within one year. May we not urge those of our home people thinking to secure a lot while chea n price and most attractively located to select now. May we not urge tourists seeking a place for building a winter home to visit us; and may we not especially urge builders who want to get a bunch of lots on which to build houses to sell or rent to select now while the selecting is good—the bunches are unbroken.

Dixie Highway Tract has many advantages, such as electric lights, telephones, jitney busses about half hourly, ice, meat, groceries delivered daily, daily mail delivery, high school, churches, literary clubs, fraternities, and other advantages of a happy and cultured community.

TO HANDLE A LIVE PROBLEM

Washington, Jan. 31.—Delegates to the fifth annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which will open at the New Willard hotel tomorrow, have begun to arrive in the city and many have reported at the headquarters established in the hotel.

It is expected that the meeting this year will be the largest in the history of the organization. More than one hundred boards of trade, chambers of commerce and similar organizations, located in all the principal cities of the country, will be represented by delegates.

Final arrangements for the four days' sessions were completed today at a meeting of the executive council of the organization. The official program indicates a lively interest in many public questions. War time problems will be given a prominent place in the discussions. The railroad situation, national defense, daylight saving and a variety of other important questions also will be given attention. Results of a referendum taken by the chamber among its affiliated organizations on the railroad problem, particularly the prevention of strikes and lockouts, will be announced.

Numerous resolutions dealing with matters of live public interest have been prepared for introduction and discussion. The Philadelphia Board of Trade will ask for a referendum on the subject of government ownership of public utilities.

The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce will urge action to facilitate the negotiation of a commercial treaty between this country and Russia to enable American manufacturers to introduce their goods into Russia under the most favorable terms which it is possible to obtain. The Cleveland chamber will also ask the national organization to consider its proposal that the new tariff commission shall contain not only tariff experts, but also a representative of business men of national experience in foreign trade, a representative of the banking interests engaged in foreign trade, and one or more representatives of diplomatic experience, the entire commission to be practically non-partisan.

The Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce will ask for the consideration of a resolution declaring that no bill of lading shall contain any clause, sentence or word that will in any sense limit or minimize the liability of common carriers. The Chamber of Commerce of Jamestown, N. Y., will submit a proposal increasing the salaries of the members of the federal tariff commission, which were fixed by congress at $7,500 a year.

The Philadelphia Bourse will propose that congress shall provide for the compilation of official information concerning the movement of merchandise upon our inland and coastal waters, in order that the useless expenditures of no value to commerce may be prevented.

GIRLS! ACT NOW! HAIR COMING OUT MEANS DANDRUFF

25-cent "Danderine" will save your hair and double its beauty.

Try this! Your hair gets soft, wavy, abundant and glossy at once.

Save your hair! Beautify it! It is only a matter of using a little Danderine occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

"Here you! What do you mean by telling that red-nosed bachelor friend of yours that marriage is all a lottery?" "I was just about to assure him, m'dear, that I won a prize."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

OVER GLADES TRIP IS MADE BY OFFICIALS

Seeking Information About the Okeechobee Country—Engineer Elliott In Party

West Palm Beach, Jan. 31.—Another stage in the plans for the development of the resources of Palm Beach county and the Okeechobee country was completed yesterday afternoon when a party of state and federal officials arrived in West Palm Beach, ending a tour through the Kissimmee river valley, around Lake Okeechobee and through the heart of the best of the Okeechobee country along the West Palm Beach canal.

The party made the tour from Okeechobee City on board the state boat Transit, and under the guidance of Chief Drainage Engineer F. C. Elliott and J. M. Burguieres, chairman of the products department of the West Palm Beach Board of Trade. It was composed of C. V. Piper, chief agrostologist of the bureau of plant industry, and R. A. Oakley, assistant to Mr. Piper, both of Washington, D. C.; Dr. W. F. Ward, chief animal husbandman, bureau of animal industry, also of Washington; Dr. P. H. Rolfs, director of United States experiment station, and J. M. Scott, professor of animal husbandry, of Gainesville; Dr. E. M. Nighbert, United States inspector in charge of tick eradication in Florida, and Executive Secretary P. L. Sutherland of the Florida tick eradication committee, ofof Jacksonville; C. S. Ucker, vice-president of the Southern Settlement and Development organization with headquarters at Baltimore; and Mr. Elliot and Mr. Burguieres.

The party came into Palm Beach county on the invasion of the Florida tick eradication committee and the products committee of the local board of trade, through its chairman, who with Mr. Elliot, met them at Okeechobee City last Thursday afternoon and on Friday morning proceeded to the entrance of the St. Lucie canal where the work being done by the Furst-Clark Company was inspected and the surrounding lands viewed to get an idea of its possibilities for cattle raising.

Officials Greatly Impressed.

Okeelanta on the North New river canal was the next stop and Dr. T. E. Will, a pioneer in co-operative development of that country was the host. Here a survey of the situation was made and the officials were most favorably impressed with the possibilities of Everglades land in the production of forage crops. Friday night was spent at the Forbes hotel on Ritta Island, after a stop at Ritta postoffice where a view of one of the furthest advanced developments on the lake shore was had. The grasses growing there proved the worth of the lake shore land for cattle and hog raising.

Saturday and Saturday night were spent at Moore Haven, where the field and truck crops added evidence of the fertility of the Okeechobee country to what has already been seen. The officials expressed themselves as amazed at the remarkable development which has occurred at Moore Haven during the past fifteen months. They said they were also thoroughly convinced that the Okeechobee country is one of the most fertile areas of land in the world and worthy of government recognition as such. They see many problems to be solved, just as other students of the country have seen; but they believe that there is a successful solution to every problem and that this trip will be valuable in finding the solutions.

A LITTLE BOY'S WORLD

Oh, a little boy's world is a wonderful place,
A land where grownups never stray.
It's a place where you never should wash your face,
And from morning till night just play.
It's a place to whistle, and laugh and sing,
It's a place where you've got to fight,
It's a place where no girls are allowed, by jing,
And a place where might is right.

It's a world full of slingshots and crippled dogs,
A world full of baseball bats,
A world full of dead mice and one-eyed hogs,
A world full of scalded cats.
A place where the boldest of robbers dwells,
As he plans out the deeds for his gang,
A place where a boy drops dead if he tells
Of the cave where the Death Skull hangs.

Oh, a little boy's world is a world all full
Of a little boy's fondest dreams,
A sister with nice long hair to pull,
No matter how loud she screams.
A place where he lolls on a bank to plan
For the day when a pirate bold,
He'll sail o'er the sea when the grows a man
And gather in slathers of gold.

ONE THOUSAND ACRES OF BROOM CORN AT MOORE HAVEN

Moore Haven is becoming noted for the bigness of its undertakings. No ordinary development this—but a big—virile—throbbing—tremendously active development, and this wonderful section is commanding the attention, and demanding the interest of and it is no wonder that it is gathering an impetus most unusual for a new city and country.

Think of One Thousand Acres Solid in Broom Corn

and what that alone means to this community—the work provided thereby in the clearing of the land, planting of the crop, cultivating, and the harvesting of this remarkable plantation of Broom Corn to be raised by Mr. Altland of Oklahoma.

It Was By No Mere Chance That Moore Haven

was selected by Mr. Altland for his big plantation. He came South looking for land, and came to be convinced by actual investigation, and he selected Moore Haven on its merits, from the standpoint of the intrinsic value, and productiveness of the soil. And so they come, and see, and buy.

Live Stock Men—Sugar Cane Men Potato Men—Broom Corn Men

Men who know what they want when they see it. Men who have to be sold on the basis of facts. Men who appreciate the fact that the $65.00 and $75.00 lands at Moore Haven are incomparable value, and will not be obtainable at these prices, in the near future, because based on their earning capacity they are worth four times that at least, and many more when the railway arrives.

MR. MIAMIAN, HOW ABOUT YOU? ARE YOU AWARE OF YOUR OPPORTUNITY?
ASK SOME OF THOSE WHO HAVE BOUGHT.
THEY WILL TELL YOU.
GO AND SEE MOORE HAVEN THIS WEEK

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

DIXIE HIGHWAY TRACT

To those residing permanently in Miami and to tourists here for the season, J. A. Gates and Son have a message. We have formulated a plan whereby we can greatly reduce the price of real estate to purchasers, cause the business of real estate to be more highly respected, and to be more enjoyable and satisfactory to those engaged in the traffic. We propose to sell lots in a tract by employing hired salesmen just as a merchant sells goods in his store by clerks in his employ. Parties visiting our Dixie Highway Tract, now being offered, will be shown over the tract by our salesmen. A tag bearing the lot and block number and price of lot is attached to a stake placed in front of each lot, to be detached by purchaser and presented at office of tract owner, where papers in settlement will be drawn.

We can, we believe, by this method, save purchaser 25 per cent or more and complete the transaction most expeditiously and satisfactorily.

We especially call attention to location of our Dixie Highway Tract. It adjoins the Charles Deering place on the north and extends from Dixie Highway to Bay View Ave., overlooking the Bay. All inside lots are held at a uniform price of $195 each, corners $300. If in this connection you note the fact that lots in Flander's tract, which adjoins the Charles Deering place on the south, are held at prices ranging from about $3,000 to $5,000 and are on lower land; you will readily see that lots in Dixie Highway will certainly appreciate rapidly in value with the growth of Miami and that you will make no mistake in buying now. Is it unreasonable to expect an advance of one hundred per cent in values within one year. May we not urge those of our home people thinking to secure a lot while cheap in price and most attractively located, to select now. May we not urge tourists seeking a place for building a winter home to visit us, and may we not especially urge builders who want to get a bunch of lots on which to build houses, to sell or rent, to select now while the selecting is good—the bunches are unbroken.

Dixie Highway tract has many advantages, such as electric lights, telephones, jitney busses about half hourly, ice, meat, groceries delivered daily, daily mail delivery, high school, churches, literary clubs, fraternities, and other advantages of a happy and cultured community.

J. A. GATES & SON,
213 Twelfth Street. Telephone 316.

VATICAN UPHOLDS TEXAS GIRL'S MARRIAGE TO COUNT

COUNTESS MOSCHINI

The Vatican court of Cassation has rejected the application for annulment of his marriage made by Count Victor Moschini to Olga Lulu Davis, of Fort Worth, Tex. They were married in 1910, when they met at a French watering place. The count alleged that Miss Davis was really the daughter of a Mexican, and considerable trouble was caused her by the fact that she could not get a birth certificate in Texas.

AMUSEMENTS

TODAY AT THE PARAMOUNT

"God's Country and the Woman," is a special Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature that is bound to take its place among the greatest motion picture plays yet produced. It is an eight-reeler and was photographed in the deep snows of Great Bear Valley, up in the San Bernardino mountains of Southern California.

Bear Valley is 9000 feet above sea level and is reached by a dog road over which Rollin S. Sturgeon and his Vitagraph players journeyed to camp for six months, while filming this photoplay which has to do with the law of virtue in the great northwest.

William Duncan, George Holt and Nell Shipman are the principals who enact the drama of a girl whose mother is overpowered by a villain and gives birth to a child in the absence of her husband. The daughter comes bravely to the front to assume the responsibility of the motherhood. To preserve her own honor, the girl, just before her father returns, writes him that she is going to the north woods to meet her "husband." The ruse works well, for a young man drifting down stream on a homeward journey from the wilds beaches his canoe near the girl's forest shelter; and falls in love with her.

She prevails upon him through his great love for her to pose as her husband, and they go back home together to protect the good name of the mother. A marriage ceremony is performed, but they live in separate rooms in a frontier home, until finally the baby dies and the villain, who all the while is trying to get possession of the girl, is devoured by a pack of sledge dogs, who trail him down after a sensational battle in which the arch-conspirator and his fellow outlaws in "Devil's Nest" are vanquished and the girl who has been captive is freed by her sweetheart. Thereafter, in the glow of the burning rendezvous, the hero takes the girl to his heart as wife in fact as well as name, for in the passing ordeals the violation of the mother becomes known to him and his bride becomes free to claim his love. Dog trains going full tilt up hill and down and a series of great human adventres holding together in perfect cohesion a wonderful story, make "God's Country and the Woman" a film masterpiece.

THEDA BARA AT THE FOTOSHO TODAY

The story of a woman who deliberately takes the place of another she believes dead, and is called to account after she has fallen in love with the man who befriended her, makes Theda Bara's new photoplay for William Fox one of exceptionally gripping heart-interest. In "Her Double Life," Miss Bara plays the part of Mary Doone, who begins life at a disadvantage, as a child of the slums. She works her way to a high position in London society—then comes the discovery, and all is over, it seems. Don't fail to see how she works out her own salvation.

AT THE HIPPODROME TODAY

A drama of love and revenge, with its scenes laid in the "Old South," is "The Bride of Hate," Triangle play, which will be seen at the Hippodrome theatre today. The principal characters in the story are Dr. Dupley Duprez, a wealthy planter, whose orphaned niece is betrayed by a young blood named Paul Crenshaw. The girl kills herself, and the doctor revenges himself upon Crenshaw by introducing to him as a creole a slave girl whom he has won at cards. The girls, Mercedes, is an unwilling party to the plot. Crenshaw falls violently in love with Mercedes and marries her, after which Duprez disgraces him by revealing that he has married a negress. Crenshaw and Mercedes separate immediately after the ceremony, and the young man, sunken in dissipation, soon meets a violent death. Then Duprez makes the startling discovery that Mercedes is really a Spanish girl who has been wrongfully held in slavery, and her forgiveness, granted when he seeks it, is the greatest joy of his life.

APRON ROUTE TO FLORIDA

New York Herald.

This morning my bacon was burned and my coffee was lukewarm.

There was a new voice droning "Lamb chops, steaks," etc. A freckled face and a head of frowzled light hair had supplanted the demure countenance of Lucile. And before Lucile there was Maude, and before Maude there was Frieda, and before that—But one can't remember them all. In every New York hotel it has been the same ever since the waiters and waitresses began taking the "apron route" to Florida, beginning with the first of the year.

If your orange is not served the way you like it you will know it is because your favorite waiter is headed blithely for the land of flowers and sunshine, where he can have all the oranges of his own that he wants.

Every year New York hotels are crippled by the exodus of servants to the big hotels of Palm Beach, St. Augustine, Miami and other Florida points, but this year it is worse than usual. Because of the war more New York than ever before is taking its winter travel in the south rather than across the water. That means more skilled waiters than ever. They offer inducements by paying the way of the New York waiter to Florida. Thus it is, while your Palm Beach suit clad gentleman leans back with satisfaction after he has been deftly served by one Jules, you in your New York corner glower at the world in general, and especially at the clumsy handed tyro who has brought you your eggs underdone! Jules always remembered that you wanted them turned over. And now the faithless Jules is basking in the southern sunshine and the liberal tips of the New York man who can afford to pass the cold months away from the roar of the subway. It's a very unfair world!

Oh, it's a happy time they have down there! About the only thing that can keep a waitress or waiter in New York are the cares of a family. I know one blonde waitress who brings your soup while its hot and who by some magic art obtains real cream for your coffee. But, alas, she's gone—gone to Florida! And her husband has gone, too.

"Jim's been going south in the winters for fourteen years," said Adele when I was about to weep bitter tears into the soup because she was going away. "That's where I met Jim, down at Palm Beach. I've been going there for seven years myself. We have no children, so we both go down there every winter Believe me, it's swell, too. You get a grand room and three good meals a day and eighteen dollars a month just to spend. And you have time in between waiting on tables to go swimming and walking around and dancing and watching the swells enjoy themselves. Gee! I wouldn't stay in New York in the winter. It's too cold here!"

Adele shrugged her shoulders in disdain. The next day I saw her no more. Her place was taken by one "Slab-Sided Lizzie," with unkempt hair, who brought me my rolls and egg at half-past eight and my coffee at nine. That was the beginning of my troubles. The whole dining room was under a cloud of gloom. Querulous glances and acid retorts shot athwart the gloom from every corner. Nobody was happy. Everybody mourned. Nothing went right. And to make it worse, you no sooner began to like a waiter and his ways than he disappeared.

"Now, where's James?" you demand of the head waiter.

"Gone," says that long suffering individual in a resigned tone. "Gone to Florida."

Almost you can learn to tell the lucky ones who are taking the "apron route" south. They wear a devil-may-care smiling air. Beyond the smoke of the kitchen they have visions of a long train journey, good times and good money at the end of it. Theirs not to worry if you get dyspepsia and general gloom when they are gone. Head waiters are driven to desperation. They go out and stalk their aproned prey in the streets. They grab up dock wallopers, section hands, anything, and tie them up in apron strings.

After dainty, fair-haired Frieda there came to my table a big fellow six feet tall, with hands like hams. He popped out of a corner as soon as I was seated and boomed, "Zoop?" He flung out the dishes as though he were behind a quick lunch counter and all the diners were brakemen who had to catch their train. But he did his best, and I gave him a tip in grateful recognition. He only lasted the one meal. At night his place was filled by a wistful, flowerlike little person, whose black dress was very clean—but she did a veritable dead march from "Saul" between the dining room and the kitchen. She could serve the coldest beans and the weakest coffee of any girl I ever saw.

Many New York waiters and waitresses go to the same hotels in Florida year after year. They do not return north until the wealthy tourists are flocking back also. Then, with their pockets full of tips and their stomachs full of oranges, they drop back into their old places here, sleek and content after a winter among the nabobs of the south.

And in a voice made feeble from weak coffee and bad eggs you meekly say, "Glad to see you back, Jules."

ERECT CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL AT SHILOH

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 31.—Through the efforts of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, there will be unveiled on the first day of next June a $50,000 monument of impressive beauty in the Shiloh National Park, near the state line of Tennessee and Mississippi in commemoration of soldiers of the Confederacy.

The monument fund has been raised and the monument itself is complete. It reveals a group representing death and night on either side of a figure of Confederacy and death taking from the limp hand of Confederacy the laurels of victory. At the base of the monument will be the profile of Gen. Albert Sydney Johnston, the hero of Shiloh, in high relief. The memorial was designed and executed by Frederick C. Hibbard, a Chicago sculptor.

The monument fund was raised largely through subscription of chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy throughout the country. Among the individual contributors was Senator John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, whose father is accounted to have been the first officer killed in the battle of Shiloh.

The date for the dedication of the monument has been fixed for June 1, in order that the Confederate veterans on their way to the national reunion at Washington may stop over at Shiloh to participate in the ceremonies.

HOW TO BE RID OF CHRONIC DANDRUFF

The only way to be permanently rid of disgusting, untidy dandruff is to correct its cause. Destroy the dandruff germ and get rid of dandruff for good by rubbing a little of the genuine Parisian Sage directly on the bare scalp until absorbed. You will surely be amazed at the result of even one application.

Only a few days massage with Parisian Sage are needed to destroy the germs that cause the dandruff to form. The scalp becomes healthy, the hair will grow better, show more life and vitality, and you need never be troubled by dandruff again. Faded, dull or lifeless hair is quickly restored to beauty by this simple treatment, which is absolutely harmless.

Parisian Sage can be obtained from Elbe's and druggists everywhere. It is not expensive.

SHE ASKS WOMEN TO MARCH IN THE INAUGURAL PARADE

MRS. J. H. BEGGS

Mrs. J. H. Beggs, of Washington, chairman of the women's division of the inaugural committee, has sent out an invitation to the women's organizations of the country to send delegations to march in the inaugural parade. These went directly to the governor of every state. She believes so much has been done to recognize women officially in the last four years they should take part in the important function of installing a president.

THE BEST IS YET TO BE

A brighter day is dawning,
Its splendor bids us wake;
It comes to banish darkness,
Men's hardships of mistake.
And problems still perplexing
Will then be understood,
And many a human trouble
Solved in the common good.

Great minds have gathered wisdom
To bless the human race,
And thoughtful men will always
The good and true embrace.
Thus also shall man's welfare,
In vain so long pursued,
Be reached through the ideal
Of all men's common good.

This world is God's creation;
He made and loves us all;
His light to us our reason,
His voice our conscience call;
His works our inspiration;
His life our strength renewed;
His law our guide and duty
That seeks the common good.

Oh, rouse ye! Thought and action
Must haste the brighter day;
Wrong still is to be vanquished
That lingers on our way,
Till equal rights and comfort
Shall all mankind include,
And happy labor findeth
Joy in the common good.

Then in men's lives shall blossom
The flowers of righteousness
That promise the fruition
Of kindness, beauty, grace!
And may at last truth's knowledge
Set men and women free,
To learn in retrospection
The Best is yet to be.
—Walter Daniel in Woman's Journal.

ORGANIZE FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Minneapolis, Jan. 31.—A new football league to embrace the leading independent teams of the northwest will take the field next fall, if plans under consideration at a meeting of promoters here today are successfully carried out. The plan is based on the supposition that with a permanent organization interest in the independent gridiron game will be increased, and at the same time the sport will be placed on a better paying basis. It is expected that college men can be induced to take up the game to a greater extent that before and the general class of play improved.
